PHŒNIX v. 2nd ROYAL BERKSHIRE REGT.

There was quite an interesting finish to this match in the Phœnix Park yesterday, Phœnix pulling through by 3 wickets at the finish. Batting first, the military were dismissed by Kidd (6 for 35) and Hyndson (3 for 42) for 124, Captain Gordon (32 not out) and Sergeant/Dr. Blackmore (26) making a nice stand for the sixth wicket. Phœnix lost Walker when only a single had been scored, but Halstead (62) and C. S. Wallis added 90 for the second wicket, Halstead hitting one 6 and five 4's. After this a regular rot set in, five wickets falling for 22 runs, but Buller and Kidd then hit off the runs. Major Sharpe bowled best, keeping a good length, and securing 5 wickets for 54 runs.

SOUTH OF ENGLAND v. AUSTRALIANS.

The prospects were, when the third day's play began at Hastings yesterday, that the match would be over early in the afternoon. That is what happened; by a quarter-past three the Australians had beaten the South by an innings and 46 runs. Overnight the Colonials had established a winning position, having made the home team to follow on, with a minority of 244. The weather was brilliantly fine, and the wicket rolled out well. Lee and Strudwick, the overnight not outs, both hit well, sending up 50 in fifty-five minutes. Bringing on Armstrong for Macdonald, Mailey got the Surrey stumper out for a plucky 21. Ashton began in his bright style, and this pair reached 100 after an hour and twenty minutes. Lee had meantime reached 50. At 108 Lee went, and Wilson and Tate were together at the interval, with the board showing 117 for five wickets. There was nothing in the batting after lunch to justify any hopes. Wilson fell to the googley man, whom he could never master. Tate was out in characteristic fashion, caught off one of his enterprising strokes at square leg, and the total was only 126 when the seventh wicket fell. Gilligan indulged in some fireworks, chiefly at Armstrong's expense. He drove the skipper out of the ground for 6, taking 11 in one over, and facing Mailey, also hit him outside the ring; following this up with another sparkling 4. He was attempting to repeat his out of the ground stroke when he was caught just inside the boundary for a refreshing bit of hitting. His 34 occupied him only twenty minutes. One hundred and fifty was the product of two hours and ten minutes, and Relf kept the score moving with a few boundary shots, which promised to take the score beyond that of the first innings. At is happened, the aggregate was exactly as in the first innings, leaving the Colonials winners by an innings and 46 runs. Score:—

GENTLEMEN v. PLAYERS.

The Gentlemen's team found the bowling and fielding of the Players much too good for them in the second of the Scarborough Festival matches yesterday. They fell short of the Players' total by 160, but, even then, were not required to follow on, Hirst preferring to send his side in again, with instructions to hit. At no time did the Gentlemen appear likely to make a good score. Haig was at the wicket seventy minutes for 24, and Mann nearly an hour for 14. Fender and Mann had a partnership of 34 for the sixth wicket, this being the biggest stand of the innings. The side should have been all out for 125, but Rhodes, after appearing to hold a hot catch long enough, saw the ball slip from his grasp. Stevens was the batsman. He escaped an easy run out when the ball was thrown in, and was also missed at the wicket next ball. Kennedy had only 10 runs hit off his bowling when he took his fourth wicket, and, after lunch, got the wickets of Fender and Crutchley in his first over. On the Players taking their second innings, Brown and Holmes scored so rapidly that they made 112 in an hour, Jupp then getting both their wickets in one over. At the close the Players led by 326 with half their wickets left. Score:—

LAWN TENNIS.

THE GAME IN AMERICA.
TILDEN ON THE "BLIND" DRAW.
BOSTON, Aug. 23.

William T. Tilden thinks the present method of determining opponents in the first round of the National Lawn Tennis Championship tournaments is all wrong. In his opinion, the matter should not be left to the luck of a "blind" draw. Too much, he says, is now left to chance. Should the present system be continued—and he expressed the belief that it would not—he predicted that a second-rate player would some day hold the national title after players of the first rank, thrown together by a top-heavy draw, had killed each other off while the second-rater was having an easy time wading through lesser opponents.

"Instead of the 'blind' draw," he said, "I would have the draw made in a systematic way. Take the No. 1 and No. 2 players, and put them on opposite sides. Then take No. 3 and No. 4 and No. 5 and No. 6, and put them in opposing halves, drawing for the respective places, perhaps. The same process should be used in disposing of at least the first ten ranking players. Others could be sandwiched between." Out of such a draw, he contended, would come competition that, in its results, would be a fairer working out of a championship tournament.—(Reuter.)

THE NATIONAL SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.

So many entries for the United States Lawn Tennis Singles Championship tournament, to be held here beginning September 9th, have been received at the National Tennis Headquarters that the officials are contemplating a curtailment of the list to a limit of 128 players. It is almost certain that all of the high ranking players of 1920 will play, and these, coupled with the promised heavy entry of foreign players, has led lawn tennis enthusiasts to speculation on the fortune of the draw.

The same method of "blind" draw as used in the Women's Championship will be employed, and it is not impossible, as in the case of the women's draw, which brought together in the early rounds Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, that W. T. Tilden, the title holder, and W. M. Johnston, of California, his most formidable rival, may meet in the opening play. Lawn tennis officials, however, point out that, even should this occur and one of these players be eliminated early, it would not detract to any great extent from the interest in the tournament. They contend that the entry list is so heavily filled with other great American and foreign players that there is no assurance, even should Tilden and Johnston be drawn in separate brackets, that either would reach the finals.—(Reuter.)

SPORTING NEWS.

CITY OF WATERFORD MEETING—YESTERDAY.

A SUCCESSFUL OPENING.
HAWKER WINS WATERFORD PLATE.

If one is to judge by the enormous attendance at Kilcohan Park yesterday afternoon the success of the new Waterford racecourse is assured. Every part of the enclosures and stands was packed, and the racing proved interesting, the chief event, the Waterford Plate, being particularly so. Some improvements might easily be made to the course itself, and these, we understood, will be carried out, and in time there will be no grounds for fault-finding. With the stands, enclosures, and general appointments nobody could cavil, and there is an excellent view of the racing from the stands.

The Waterford Plate, as stated, was a most attractive event, and the field of thirteen runners included some of the best steeplechasers in the country. Max, the Galway Plate winner, who now had a very different impost to what he carried when he won the big Western race, was made favourite, and, in the hands of F. Wootton, he was confidently expected to win by the stable connections. The weight, however, proved too much, and after a mile and a half it was evident that his bolt was shot. At this stage Hawker, who had been in front from the start, Ægean, and Fleecy Wave were the leaders, but Hawker was always travelling easier than the other pair, and without ever being seriously tackled he easily landed the spoils for the County Limerick sportsman, Mr. J. B. Bennett. Hawker was sent to the post in excellent fettle by H. Harty, who now trains him at Croom, and the ease with which he won suggested that the horse is now at the top of his form.

Ram's Head proved a false favourite for the Johnstown Plate, and was beaten after a mile, and Fane Lady, who opened out a long lead in the early stages, retained her position all through, and won comfortably. The Maddenstown Lodge stable followed up this success by also taking the Suir Plate with the Limerick Junction winner, Lemvoya, but in this instance it was only by the narrowest margin that Captain Musker's filly defeated Gossip Shop. The latter actually did head the eventual winner some distance from the post, but running on gamely, Lemvoya got up again to score by a short head. Fast Asleep, who finished second to Red Rhetoric for the Gold Cup at the Curragh, had a very different class in opposition in the Newpark Plate, and, ridden by Mr. J. H. Wallace, she led practically all the way. Another favourite appropriated the Ballyglan Plate, Free Return, the winner, being the only horse supported to any extent, and in the Three Miles Steeplechase Sir Huon had not to exert himself to beat Ardmore and The Prosperous Boy. DONCASTER.

THE CHAMPAGNE STAKES.
GOLDEN CORN'S FINE DISPLAY.
HOLBEACH WINS YORKSHIRE HANDICAP.

Doncaster has now settled down to pre-war conditions. No fixture attracts a more truly sporting company, and the racing yesterday fully maintained its high standard.

The Champagne Stakes has, I think, done much to settle the question of two-year-old supremacy. There had been a persistent tip for Laughter, a Pommern filly of Mr. J. Joel's who had never run, but early in the day Morton had stated that until he saw Mr. Joel he could not say whether Laughter or Stupidity would represent the stable. Eventually the latter was chosen to carry the colours, but chief interest centred in the meeting of Lembach and Golden Corn. The latter is a most charming filly, and in the paddock stood out alone in looks, though little or no fault could be found with Lembach, but in the actual race Golden Corn simply dominated everything, and her beating of Lembach, no doubt, decides the question as to which is the champion youngster of the season, though, of course, there is the Middle Park and the Dewhurst Plates still to be decided. My own view is that in Golden Corn we have at length a filly of the same high class as Pretty Polly or Sceptre. Some flukey results have been connected with the race, but there was no semblance of a fluke attaching to yesterday's performance.

Mr. Watkin Williams has invested immense sums of money in bloodstock, but has failed to attain very marked success. However, he came into his own in the Great Yorkshire Handicap, for Holbeach proved himself a thorough stayer, and scored distinctly on his merits from First Wheat, who, like the winner, has not been too lucky. Attilius carried the full confidence of the astute people connected with the Whatcombe stable, but obviously he was set too difficult a task. Holbeach's smart win paid testimony to March Along and Flint Jack, who had beaten him at York.

If Whatcombe was disappointed in the principal event, they scored a notable triumph with Sargon in the Glasgow Nursery. The winner was not generally known, but he won a selling race in June at Newbury as the Penny Flyer gelding. He was then in Hogg's stable, and his present trainer gave 400 guineas for him, easily one of the best bargains of the present season.

PROSPECTS FOR TO-DAY.

The St. Leger.
DONCASTER, Tuesday Night.

Not before his turn, Holbeach credited his connections to-day with an important handicap. Hitherto his luck has been so atrocious that many of his previous supporters had become resigned to fate. He made amends to-day, but the penalties he has incurred for the later handicap have disposed of his prospects. The field for the Leger may not exceed the following list of

For an event of this importance, on the eve of the issue, it is extraordinary how backers appear disinclined to lay the odds asked for. As matters stand, I shall only suggest that

BOXING.

BOXING IN AMERICA.
(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)
NEW YORK, August 23.

The New York State Athletic Commission decided to-day that, beginning September 1st, all main of so-called star bouts arranged for by boxing clubs in this State, must be on a percentage basis. No guarantees or special bonuses will be permitted. The Commission also adopted a rule providing for a uniform count on knock-downs. Under this rule, the timekeeper shall rise immediately after the knock-down and call the seconds from his watch up to the ninth second, and at the tenth shall strike the gong twice, while the referee, without neglecting any of the duties requiring his attention to the boxers, shall count in unison with the timekeeper as evenly as possible. Where a round terminates before the count of ten is reached, the timekeeper is instructed to ring the gong twice, indicating the end of the round, and to announce how far the count had gone.

COWLEY BEATS TOWNLEY.

There was a packed house at the Liverpool Stadium on Monday night, when Tom Cowley and Arthur Townley met over 15 rounds. This was their third meeting, Townley having won the first two. From the outset the contest was well boxed, and for some time there was but little between them, but then Townley took a commanding lead, and had well won on points, but when the twelfth round was reached he was disqualified for using his head.

Dail Eireann's Test.

The strike of the Cork Harbour Board's workers has ceased for the time being, but its moral remains. The men demanded a minimum wage of £3 10s., which the Board—for reasons that Alderman de Roiste explained clearly at Monday's meeting—was unable to grant. During the strike the shipping trade of Cork was paralysed, but this was not enough for the local organisers of the Irish Transport Workers' Union. They had grander schemes in view. On Monday they rejected with scorn a proposal that the dispute should be referred to a tribunal consisting of a representative of the Commissioners, a representative of the men, and a member of the Labour Department of Dail Eireann. They decided to depose the Board, to dismiss some of its officials, to take over its business, and to pay themselves the minimum wage of £3 10s. at the community's expense. They hoisted the flag of their Soviet over the Board's offices. Councillor Day, the leader of this enterprise, dictated his terms with more than Cromwellian arrogance at Monday's meeting. He defied the universe to pull down the red flag of Irish Labour, and declared: "If the Irish Republican Government put me out of the office to-morrow, they can do it; but they have got to count the cost." Yesterday morning the Transport Workers' Union carried out its threat. It expelled the Board's secretary, installed its own men, and, apparently, took immediate charge of the affairs of the harbour, including the collection of dues. In the afternoon, however, wiser counsels seem to have prevailed. We have not learned the details, but the dispute has been referred to a conference at which a chairman appointed by the Labour Department of Dail Eireann will preside. It is expected that the men will return to work to-day.

Short-lived as was this outbreak of Irish Bolshevism, it was highly ominous. To-day Irish Labour is permeated with a spirit of revolt against all the principles and conventions of ordered society. The country's lawless state in recent months is partly responsible for this sinister development, and the wild teachings of the Russian Revolution have fallen on willing ears. It is small consolation for thoughtful Irishmen that the first experiments in practical Communism—like this affair at Cork and like the seizure of Messrs. Cleeve's premises at Bruree—have collapsed in a few days or hours. Their real significance lies in the temper and aspirations which they reveal. If Irish Labour is not educated by example and precept in the immediate future—if popular government does not induct it fairly, but firmly, into its proper place in the national economy, insisting upon its duties as well as upon its privileges—it may become a source of infinite trouble, and even of disaster, to the Commonwealth. In the first stages of Irish self-government the claims and position of Labour will constitute one of the State's gravest problems. Mr. de Valera and his colleagues have, for political purposes, a sort of working arrangement with Irish Labour; but they know perfectly well that it will not survive the opening of the first Irish Parliament. At the outset there will be as sharp a conflict of interests between Capital and Labour—that is to say, between the farmers and the now largely Bolshevised trade unions—as ever existed in any country. The prosperity and peace of self-governing Ireland will depend largely upon the swiftness and skill with which these rival interests are reconciled and adjusted to the nation's common service. Only true statesmanship—wise, practical, tolerant, supple statesmanship—can hope to achieve the task.

Mr. de Valera's latest pronouncement, which we publish to-day, betrays some irritation at the widespread criticism of his attitude to the Government's proposals. He ought to recognise, however, that most of this criticism is honest. The anxiety and disappointment of Irish Unionists—and, we add confidently, of hundreds of thousands of Irish Nationalists—have a double cause. They are alarmed by Dail Eireann's apparent failure to appreciate the magnitude of the Government's offer and by its apparent readiness to endanger that offer through a policy of punctilio and delay. They are exasperated by its refusal to deal simply and quickly with a simple and urgent issue. That, however, is not all. These lovers of their country's peace are becoming, as the days pass, more and more doubtful of Sinn Fein's capacity not merely to win settlement, but to administer it when won. The negotiations are a crucial test of statesmanship and, so far, the leaders of Dail Eireann have failed to satisfy it. They have shown little or nothing of the clear vision and constructive ability that will be needed when England surrenders to Ireland the full management of her own affairs. There is small promise in Dail Eireann's confused and dilatory dealings with Mr. Lloyd George that it will be able successfully to handle great national problems—such as the Labour problem—in a self-governing Ireland. Irish Unionists do not question Mr. de Valera's magnanimity, but magnanimity is not the only essential of good government. They are beginning to be afraid that the men who seem to be fumbling a national crisis now will fumble Irish administration if and when they take charge of it. If Dail Eireann wants to remove that impression, it will change its tactics and will get to the business of settlement without further delay. It is probable that an imperative—perhaps, a final—summons to business will issue to-day from Inverness.

Cost of Living.

Irish housewives throughout the country will be keenly interested in Mr. J. H. Thomas's remarks at the Trades Union Congress yesterday on the cost of living. Recently a joint committee of the Labour Party and the Trades Union Congress investigated the figures which are issued every month by the Ministry of Labour, and its report constituted a direct challenge to the accuracy of Dr. Macnamara's department. Under various settlements which have been negotiated during the last few years the wages of some three million workers are regulated automatically by the Ministry of Labour's index figures. If the cost of living rises, wages rise in sympathy; if it falls, wages follow suit. When this system was adopted Labour was loud in its praise, because costs, undoubtedly, were rising. Of recent months, however, the index figures have fallen appreciably, and, now that wages are being reduced according to plan, Labour has changed its tune. It declares that the Government's figures are untrustworthy; that, whereas the Ministry of Labour asserts that the cost of living has fallen, in many cases it actually has risen; and that the whole system of computing costs should be revised at once. The suggestion that the Ministry of Labour is cheating the workers is, of course, ridiculous. The truth is that the cost of living is something that cannot be reckoned to three places of decimals, because no two families buy the same things in the same proportions, and it is quite possible that the expenses of a household may rise during a month in which the official figures indicate a fall. The system from the start was open to serious criticism; but it cuts both ways. Labour gained at the beginning when the index figures were soaring from month to month. It cannot complain in all fairness now if it loses something. The criticism which Mr. Thomas directs towards the figures of the Ministry of Labour can be directed equally towards any figures which he or his friends can produce; and, on the whole, we are inclined to think that the Ministry is likely to be more impartial in the matter than Labour's facile mathematics. With some of Mr. Thomas's remarks, however, we are heartily in concord. He spoke of the "scandalous profiteering" which is being practised among those who transmit commodities from the wholesaler to the consumer; and, indeed, it is a scandal. Wholesale prices have fallen in many instances almost to their pre-war level, while retail prices are virtually as high as ever. Somebody is reaping a rich harvest of profit, not only at the expense of the workingman, but also at the expense of the toiling middle-classes, who have nobody to fight their battles for them. No city in the United Kingdom suffers more from the "profiteer" than Dublin. Prices here, on an average, are far higher than they are in London, Liverpool, or Glasgow, and the milk ramp is only a glaring instance of what is happening on every hand. The cost of living never will fall to any satisfactory extent until the market is purged of the "profiteer." Irish trade unionists need not seek to throw the blame for the discrepancy between facts and figures on the Ministry of Labour. The real culprits are to be found much nearer home.

August Rain.

The clerk of the weather was in a fickle mood last month. He ignored precedent and distributed his favours unevenly. Some places in the United Kingdom had a surfeit of rain; others were kept in the grip of the drought. At the Isle of Grain, for instance, only 0.52 inches of rain fell during the thirty-one days, and the total for the three summer months was just under an inch. It is safe to say that this is a record for any locality in the Kingdom. On the other hand, Eskdalemuir, in Dumfries-shire, which had been pining for sunshine, had a rainfall of 6.88 inches, and its total for July and August was no less than 13.88 inches. Even in the London area there was a marked difference. At Kew Observatory a fall of only 0.38 inches was registered during August; but in some parts of the City, on the 23rd ultimo, over three-quarters of an inch of rain fell in the course of a few hours. The same irregularity was noticed in other localities. Pulham Air Station, for example, received over three inches during a violent thunderstorm on the 13th, while at Yarmouth, which is only a few miles away, the rainfall for the entire month was less than two inches. In some parts of Ireland a shortage of nearly an inch was recorded, and in Dublin the deficiency was little more than half an inch. When the figures for twelve months are reviewed, however, it is found that Dublin, and Ireland generally, have fared very well. From September, 1920, until the end of last month 28.2 inches of rain were registered in Dublin compared with the "normal" fall of 27.8. Thus, despite the drought, we received a little more than our average allowance. Glasgow is the only other city in the Kingdom which can boast of such a record.

Ships That Pass.

Sailing ships came into their own again for a few brief months after the Armistice, when freights reached an abnormal level; but now their steam rivals are driving them from the seas. Under the Treaty of Versailles Germany surrendered many fine vessels which compared not unfavourably with the famous clippers of the 'sixties. They were equipped with every up-to-date device to assist them in competing with the modern cargo steamers, and for a time they were in brisk demand. Now, however, there is no market for them. Last week the Government put several up for sale by public auction, and the bidding was very disappointing. Ships of from two thousand to three thousand tons were sold for a little more than a thousand pounds apiece. The names of the purchasers were not revealed, for all the bids were made by agents; but it is believed that nearly all the ships will go back to Germany and will be placed on the South America nitrate trade. If this be true, the Government will receive little more than the amount needed for the upkeep of the vessels since their surrender. Other sailing ships will be sold this week. It is to be hoped that some of them will remain under the British flag; for the sailing ship provides the best of all training for the young seaman.

FRANK BROOKE MEMORIAL.

DEDICATION IN SHILLELAGH CHURCH.

BISHOP OF OSSORY'S TRIBUTE.

Last Sunday afternoon a solemn Service was held in Shillelagh Church, when two stained glass memorial windows, which have been erected in the nave of the church, to the memory of the Right Hon. Frank Brooke, P.C., D.L., were dedicated by the Bishop of Ossory, Ferns, and Leighlin, in the presence of an exceedingly large congregation—the church being packed to its utmost capacity.

The window on the left-hand side portrays a figure symbolical of "Valour," and has the words: "Faithful unto Death." Underneath it is a brass plate recording:—

"To the Glory of God, and in Memory of the Right Hon. Frank Brooke, P.C., D.L. Born 1st September, 1851. Killed 30th July, 1920. This window is erected by Earl Fitzwilliam."

On the window on the right is delineated the figure of "Victory," with, at the top, the Brooke crest, coat of arms, and motto ("Gloria Finis"), and the words: "The Memory of the Just is Blessed." The brass tablet underneath records:—

"To the Glory of God, and in Memory of the Right Hon. Frank Brooke, P.C., D.L., this window is erected by Parishioners and Friends."

Both windows are perfect in colouring and design.

THE SERVICE.

The Service opened with the singing of Hymn No. 472, as a processional. The other hymns—all from the New Hymnal—rendered during the Service were: 516, 440, 175, and 526, with No. 13 as recessional. The special Psalms were xv. and lvi., to chants 36 and 55. The Lessons were Isaiah xl. to verse 12, and Romans viii., from verse 20.

The following clergymen assisted at the Service:—Revs. E. W. Fitzsimon (Rector), Canon Moore, J. C. Lindsay, T. E. Young, and J. Smyth.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

The Bishop took as his text Proverbs x., part of verse 7: "The Memory of the Just is Blessed," and, in the course of his sermon, said:—There are some men who seem to be marked out by their character and abilities for positions of trust and responsibility. People turn naturally to them, when they are in trouble or in difficulty, for sympathy and help. They feel they can trust them. They know they can rely upon their advice. I think there have been few men in our community of recent years, who have had as great an influence of this kind as the late Mr. Frank Brooke. I have heard from many people that Mr. Brooke was a pattern, a model, of what a land agent should be. I know he was honoured and trusted in this place by everybody, even by those who differed from him most. A man of such wisdom and high character is naturally chosen to occupy positions of trust and responsibility in public life. For many years Mr. Brooke was Vice-Chairman, and afterwards Chairman, of the Dublin and South-Eastern Railway Company, and he was at the head of every movement for the betterment of that company. He was also one of His Majesty's Privy Councillors, and his advice was often sought and highly valued by those in authority during the troublous years through which we have passed. About this I do not wish to say much now, and I do not want to say one word which would stir up bitter feelings in any heart. Mr. Brooke had his own opinions, and never attempted to disguise them; but he was essentially a moderate man. He loved Ireland, and longed to see his country prosperous and peaceful. That dastardly act of murder, which brought his life to an end, removed one who was a true patriot in the highest sense of the word—one who cared little or nothing for self, but all for his duty; one whose strongest desire was to serve his King and his country with the best of his talents and ability.

CAPACITY FOR FRIENDSHIP.

I think about the highest test you can apply to any man's character is the test of friendship. Friendship is such a great, sacred thing. It is only those with strong and deep character who can make and sustain real friendships. And now listen to this quotation from a private letter from a friend of his to me:—"Frank Brooke was the best friend any man ever had, and his loss is, and will be, very keenly felt, till all who ever knew him have passed away." My friends, what shall we say about a man like this—so useful, so talented, so beloved—cut off suddenly, when it seemed he was so much needed here.

PEACE EFFORTS.

We are thinking to-day of one who lost his life in that bitter conflict which has rent our country. Now, thank God, a truce has been proclaimed, and earnest efforts are being made, at the instance of our King himself, to bring peace to Ireland. One can imagine, if he had been alive, how earnestly Mr. Brooke would have striven for this great cause, and how all his great influence would have been exerted to bring about a peaceful and just settlement. As I have said already, he loved his country. He longed to see Ireland happy. My friends, it is the duty of each one of us—by our prayers, by every means in our power—to try to bring about peace. I know that the difficulties are enormous. I know that some people think they are almost unsurmountable; but it is our duty to do our part. Let us pray for our country, that the Spirit of God may rest upon her, the Spirit of Peace; so that anarchy may yield to order, and strife and bitterness end in abiding peace.

The Offertory was on behalf of the Red Cross movement for the combating of plague and pestilence on the Continent of Europe.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GEORGE BULL.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. George Bull, widow of Brigadier-General George Bull, D.S.O., one of the "Contemptibles," who served with much distinction in the great war, and fell in action whilst commanding the 8th Infantry Brigade. Mrs. Bull, who passed away on the 2nd inst., at her residence, Broadstairs, Kent, was a daughter of the late Mr. Joseph W. Warburton, formerly Consul-General of Valparaiso, and of the late Lady Frances Warburton.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—An anti-cyclone still maintains its position over the Southern part of the United Kingdom, and fine dry weather is, therefore, likely to continue in most districts, probably for two or three days. A depression approaching from the Atlantic is likely soon to cause less settled conditions in the West and North-west.

Ireland, N.W., N.E., S.E., and S.W.—Wind mainly south-west or south, light to moderate, fair; visibility fair to good generally, but some mist at times; rather warm.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

There are now twenty members of the British Cabinet, and it is expected that sixteen of them will take part in the deliberations at Inverness to-morrow. Nine of them are travelling from Euston to-night, and seven, including the Prime Minister, are already in Scotland. It is unfortunate that Mr. Balfour, with his unequalled knowledge of the Irish question, will be absent; but he, with Mr. Fisher, is engaged with the League of Nations at Geneva. The other two absentees will be Lord Lee (the First Lord of the Admiralty) and Sir Gordon Hewart (the Attorney-General), both of whom are indisposed.

The Cabinet meeting at Inverness Town Hall to-morrow is expected to be a protracted one, for arrangements have been made for luncheon to be supplied to the Ministers and all in attendance. The Prime Minister and the other Ministers, on arrival at the Hall, will be met by the Provost MacDonald shortly before eleven o'clock, and by him will be conducted to the Council Chamber, which has seating accommodation for twenty, while adjoining rooms will be reserved for the secretariat and the typists. The expectation is that the Cabinet will break up in the evening and that the Ministers will leave the town directly afterwards.

The Lord Chancellor, as he journeys North to-night, will be interested to read that a party of American tourists has presented the Prime Minister with a cabinet of choice Havana cigars, accompanying their gift "with the sincere hope that Great Britain and Ireland may soon smoke together the pipe of peace." Mr. Lloyd George is not, I believe, a very heavy smoker, but Lord Birkenhead is rarely seen without a big cigar in his mouth. His taste is shared by several other members of the Cabinet, who will, doubtless, have an opportunity to-morrow of sampling the American visitors' timely present.

Touching tobacco, one result of the unusually hot summer has been the harvesting of an unusually fine crop on the estate of Mr. A. J. Brandon, at Ewshott, in Hampshire. It is expected to yield about a thousand pounds an acre. Much interest was taken a few years ago in the experiments conducted by Sir Nugent Everard and other growers in Ireland, but very little has been heard of them lately on this side.

The action of the Poplar Council in refusing to levy a rate to fulfil the legal obligations of the borough to the London County Council has disclosed an anomaly in the law of local government. The Poplar councillors have undoubtedly disobeyed the law, and have been sent to prison accordingly; but, unless they repent and reverse their decision—which seems at the moment improbable—the rate cannot be levied, and the London County Council will not get its money. In Ireland, in similar circumstances, the Local Government Board has power, I believe, to take over the powers of the recalcitrant Council; but in this country the Ministry of Health, which occupies an analogous position, apparently can only look on helplessly.

Now that the Poplar Council members find themselves in prison, they are not prepared to accept the consequences of their contempt of Court. They seem to forget that the law knows no parties, and that it will not truckle any more to Labour than it would to a Peer, once he had brought himself into the same position. The followers and admirers of Mr. Lansbury now find that they do not like the prison diet and the prison restrictions, and are agitating to get the one improved and the other amended. It seems to be understood by them and their followers that prison diet is a luxurious affair and that they are being defrauded of something that is their right by the simple diet set before them.

Probably, before long we shall have an outcry and demand for the release of these victims of their own foolishness; but, in such a case, it had better be recognised at once that the Government can do nothing. The Home Secretary cannot advise the Crown to release these prisoners, for they do not come under his jurisdiction. They can only put an end to their imprisonment themselves by purging their contempt and making an apology to the Court. Once that is done the Court, in all probability, would set them free at once, but it seems unlikely that any other power can.

Labour leaders generally are not disposed to help in the attempt to make martyrs of the Poplar Councillors, but they may have to yield to the pressure forced upon them by extremists in the Labour ranks. In the opinion of most of the moderate leaders, the Councillors have only themselves to blame for the position they are in by adopting a policy which had only one logical conclusion, while law and order still prevail. At the same time, the Labour leaders fear that they may be squeezed by the extremists' trying to force a resolution at the Trades Union Congress on this matter.

That is not the only matter worrying the sane Labour leaders at the moment, for they are extremely anxious about the Irish situation. Much is going on behind the scenes at Cardiff to prevent a motion on Ireland from being placed on record by the Congress, for it is known that there is a quite sharp division in the Labour Party on the question, the majority holding the view that the Government concessions have gone far enough. At the same time, the danger, so far as Labour is concerned, is that, if such a view were to be placed on record, the party would lose the Irish vote at the next election—a very serious outlook.

The Soviet Government is following the example of most revolutionary bodies, and, having shot all those opposed to it, has now begun to rend itself. The latest advices from Russia tell of new terrors in Petrograd, Kieff, and Odessa, and, of the 800 victims who have already perished, 80 per cent. were Soviet officials. What this may portend it is difficult to say, but it seems that poor Russia will have to work out her salvation through seas of blood, exactly as France did after the revolution. Sanity may come in time, but only after a long-drawn-out agony.

The London coal merchants have decided to make a small reduction in the price of household coal to-morrow, and the decrease will range from 3s. per ton on the best varieties to 2s. per ton on inferior qualities. It is doubtful whether this reduction will have much effect on the consumer, for there is an utter disinclination on the part of the householder to fill his cellars for the winter at the high prices now ruling. So many gas stoves and cookers have now been fitted that the raw fuel can be done without, while domestic servants are lacking to clean up the grates. Among the poorer classes the use of the oil stoves is now general, and housewives are getting quite expert at making the best use of rather poor facilities. Yesterday I saw in one cottage a "three-decker" saucepan steaming away, boiling two vegetables and a pudding, I was told. Until the really cold weather comes the coal merchant stands little chance of a big demand.

NEW LEGAL APPOINTMENT.

Last night's Dublin Gazette announces that the Lord Lieutenant has been pleased to nominate and appoint Dudley White, Esq., K.C., to be an Assistant Judge for the purposes of the revision of the jurors' lists and the hearing of appeals from the Registration Officer for the County of Dublin for the year 1921.

KINGSTOWN URBAN COUNCIL.

The Kingstown Urban Council last night passed a resolution congratulating the Most Rev. Dr. Byrne on his elevation to the Archbishopric of Dublin.

The Council asked the General Purposes Committee to report as to the desirability of erecting a public abattoir in the township, and further to report as to the provision of a market place.

COST OF LIVING.

INDEX FIGURES CHALLENGED.

The Labour Ministry's index figures of the cost of living were challenged and severely criticised by the Trades Union Congress at Cardiff yesterday.

Mr. J. W. Bowen (Postal Workers' Union), referring to the report of the joint Labour and Trade Union Committee on the cost of living, remarked that nothing had been said about the criticisms which had been hurled at the report, particularly by the New Statesman. Those criticisms found a good deal of support in Civil Service circles among people accustomed to deal with this kind of thing. The Committee, in setting out to prove that the basis of the official index figure was inaccurate, had taken in hand a very big task, and he desired an assurance that they fully understood the Ministry of Labour methods in working out the index figure. He was quite satisfied they had made out an excellent case for the continued examination of the calculations.

Mr. J. H. Thomas said that approximately 3,000,000 organised workers were not only affected, but had their wages controlled on the basis of the cost of living. It, therefore, followed that not only were the index figures of the Ministry important, but, seeing that 3,000,000 people were involved, they ought to be accurate, and it was vital to the workers that they should have confidence in the figures.

There would be common agreement, he believed, in all trades and industries that no working class home to-day and no student of this question could reconcile actual experience of the cost of living with the figures published by the Ministry of Labour. (Cheers.) It was notorious that on more than one occasion when the cost of living figures published by the Ministry of Labour had revealed a reduction, the general experience of the housewife had been an increase in expenditure of the working class home. The Committee had not been hasty in arriving at its conclusions. They had exhausted all the means at their disposal, and the report, he contended, was a direct challenge to the Government. (Cheers.) In effect, it said to the Government—"Your figures are not only not to be relied upon, but are absolutely contrary to the experience of the great mass of the people." (Cheers.)

Mr. Thomas said he had no hesitation in asserting that there was scandalous profiteering taking place between the wholesaler and the consumer. It would be noted there was a tremendous drop in wholesale prices. They would have read frequently that certain articles based on the wholesale standard, were down to the 1914 level, but, unfortunately, owing to the profiteering between the wholesaler and the consumer, the reduction did not benefit the great mass of the people. In the judgment of the Trade Union Committee, the Ministry of Labour figures could not be relied upon. Mr. Thomas moved the following resolution:—

THE RESOLUTION.

"Congress calls attention to the discrepancy between the cost of living index number of the Joint Committee and that of the Ministry of Labour, and instructs the General Council to press for the adoption of a method of calculating the official index number which will reflect the actual facts as to the cost of living. It condemns the attempts made by firms and even whole industries to withhold the relevant information required by Government Committees set up to inquire into their profits. It further condemns the Government for not insisting on a full disclosure of the facts, and for itself refusing to publish the results of important inquiries into profits. The Congress views with apprehension the continued growth of uncontrolled 'trusts' and combinations, and calls upon the Government to fulfil its oft-repeated promises to introduce legislation on the subject.

"The Congress is of opinion that the exploiting of the consumer is inevitable under the existing industrial system. It believes that capital, which is now the taskmaster of the producer and the exploiter of the consumer, must become the servant of both. The fundamental interests of the public as producers, consumers, and citizens, can be assured only when it is recognised that industry was made for man, and not man for industry, and that industry and commerce must be subordinated to the common weal."

The resolution was carried.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

STEADY DECREASE IN IRELAND.

ONE CITY ONLY UNCHANGED.

Unemployment in Ireland shows a downward tendency. The decrease has been particularly slow during the past few months, but it is gratifying to be able to state that within the past few weeks the number of placings in employment by the Labour Exchanges generally throughout Ireland has increased by 30 per cent. The truce now in operation has undoubtedly tended very much towards the improvement manifested. It is interesting to note that unemployment is more extensive in Belfast than elsewhere, and that, compared with the month of April last, there is little change to be found in the figures which are available to date.

During the week ended 15th April last the number of people registered for employment at the Labour Exchanges and branch offices in Ireland was 116,285, this total being made up as follows:—Men, 79,046; women, 31,809; boys, 2,585; and girls, 2,845. The total registered for the week ending 26th August was 107,336, which embraced 75,071 men, 29,213 women, 1,652 boys, and 1,400 girls. The following are the Exchanges at which the largest numbers appear on the "live" register, or register for employment, on the dates mentioned:—

	April 15.	Aug. 26.	Sept. 2.
Belfast	28,434	32,439	29,975
Dublin	15,291	10,944	10,500
Cork	10,922	8,739	6,196
Limerick	4,188	3,417	3,178
Londonderry	4,176	4,115	3,905
Waterford	2,284	2,099	2,078

NO DECREASE IN BELFAST.

The figures show that, comparing the total number on the "live" register on the 15th April with that on the 26th August, there has been a decrease of 8,949. In the case of Belfast, there is no decrease shown in the latest statistics as compared with those obtaining on 15th April. Decreases are shown in all the other cities named. The total of 107,336 registered for employment on the 26th August works out as follows:—

	Men.	Women.	Boys.	Girls.
Belfast	20,694	11,123	437	185
Dublin	7,727	2,802	215	200
Cork	5,982	2,361	180	216
Limerick	2,771	579	34	33
Londonderry	2,407	1,501	57	150
Waterford	1,544	391	84	80

The total number of people in Ireland drawing unemployment benefit and out-of-work donations on the 15th April, compared with the 26th August, was as follows:—

	15th April.	26th Aug.
Whole time benefit	102,776	81,126
Short time benefit	50,403	34,918
Out-of-work donation	471	26

These figures show a marked decrease in all three sections.

EGG INDUSTRY.

IRELAND THE FOREMOST SUPPLIER.

In the International Trade Section of the World's Poultry Congress at the Hague, Mr. P. J. O'Neill (Manager of the Wholesale Co-Operative Society, Ltd., Armagh) read a paper on "Collection, Marketing, and Transport of Irish Eggs."

Mr. O'Neill said that for her size and population Ireland stood foremost among nations as a supplier of eggs for consumption outside her own shores. To Great Britain, whose markets are open to the world, Ireland sent the bulk of her eggs, and her supplies headed the list. The predominance of the Irish egg in the British market could not altogether be ascribed to the proximity of the two countries. It was due to a variety of causes, one of the most important of which was the quality of the Irish egg, which impartial critics regarded as the best in colour, the finest in flavour, and, some went so far as to say, of higher nutritive value than the egg produced in any other country. In the last two or three decades remarkable progress had been made in the production of poultry and eggs in Ireland. Among the causes that contributed to this, two stood out preeminently:—(1) The demand for poultry products in Great Britain; (2) the suitability of the industry to the system of farming carried out upon the small-holdings, of which there were over 400,000 in Ireland.

In the past the method of collection was probably the least satisfactory aspect of the Irish egg industry. But great improvement has been effected of recent years. As an instance of the progress that education so applied had effected, he mentioned, as an item of more than passing interest that in 1903 the number of poultry in Ireland was 18½ million; while in the year before the war it had increased to 25½ million; and notwithstanding the scarcity of feeding stuffs during the war period, figures for later years showed still further increases. That period, too, had seen an improvement in home production, and in the methods of collection and marketing, due in no small measure to the advice given by the various teachers and instructors working under the schemes of the Department, and its County Committees.

MARKET ADVANTAGES.

Geographically, Ireland was nearer to her market than her competitors were, so that the transport of eggs would appear to offer no very great difficulties; but the distances between the egg-packing centres and the shipping ports involved a good deal of inland transit, and consequent liability to damage. Considerable loss was caused at forwarding stations and junctions by shunting difficulties, as well as in the assembling of goods trains on their way to the ports.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

TO-DAY'S CABINET.

"THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY SAYS:—

Despatches from Ireland bear witness to the profound anxiety with which the Irish people await to-day's decision of the Cabinet upon Mr. de Valera's last letter. There is no doubt of the sincerity of Ireland's desire for peace, nor of the fact that, were the Sinn Fein leaders to accept the Government's offer, the vast majority of Irishmen would uphold their decision thankfully. Yet no man can say for certain that, if the Sinn Fein leaders repudiate this offer, Ireland will immediately turn against them. If, therefore, the Cabinet were to reject Mr. de Valera's suggestion of unconditional discussion, they would not apparently be justified in counting upon any reaction against Sinn Fein powerful enough to force its hand. Strong though Sinn Fein may be, the Cabinet would be rash to regard the negotiations as purely inter-Governmental. The British Government, so long as its efforts are sincerely and patiently directed towards the attainment of peace, speaks on behalf of the British people to the Irish people as a whole. If they are to speak effectively, they will not have merely to overcome the suspicion and prejudices of an Irish political organisation, but to allay that general resentment on the part of Irishmen against this country which has been the driving force of the Sinn Fein movement. The method of exchanging written arguments between London and Dublin has obviously placed them under a disadvantage in this respect, for the negotiations have become a public contest in which each side supports its champions. If, on the other hand, the Government bring discussion to close quarters, they will not only convince Ireland of the persistence of their desire for peace—by no means a negligible consideration—but will substitute the true atmosphere of peace-making for that of an exhibition of dialectics. Negotiations of this sort need waste no time. The representatives of Sinn Fein would, according to Mr. de Valera, be plenipotentiaries, while on their side the Government would occupy a position stronger than any British Government has ever held. If, under such conditions, they were unable to attain the agreement they seek, they would have done all that lies within their power. No reasonable man in this country, or, indeed, beyond it, can, or will, ask more of them in the way of negotiations.

ULSTER AND SINN FEIN.

Mr. St. John Ervine, in the course of a letter to The Times, says:—In my intercourse with Ulstermen lately I have found them very willing to acknowledge the sincerity and uprightness, and courage of the Sinn Fein leaders, but they insist that these gentlemen are lacking in a sense of reality, and have no experience of normal government. The nearest they will come to a suggestion of unified Government is to say: "Well, let them show us that they know how to govern, and we will think about it." In these circumstances does it not seem reasonable to ask the Sinn Feiners to accept the offer made by the Government, and prove by their control of Irish affairs outside the Northern Parliament area that the Ulster fears are groundless? The Ulstermen will come in of their own free will when they are satisfied of the abilities of the Sinn Feiners, but any attempt to make them come in before they are so satisfied will merely keep them out. This is tantamount, no doubt, to saying that Ulstermen are unreasonable and obstinate, but calling a thing by its name does not alter its character or make it any less of a fact; and the great and urgent need of Sinn Fein at this moment is not courage, is not unselfishness, is not sincerity, but the power to recognise a fact when it sees one; and Ulster is the supreme and inescapable fact in the Irish situation.

GERMAN RACING.

An attempt is at last being made to purge German racing of the rottenness with which it is infected, and by which it has become a byword throughout Europe, says the Berlin Correspondent of The Times. The Racing Association has cancelled the licences of three leading jockeys—Kasper, Rastenberger, and Blume—for life. All three had been engaged in crooked racing, in conjunction with bookmakers, and the evidence brought against them left the Association no option. They are scapegoats for the many, and it is generally regretted that the real criminals, the Turf swindlers at whose hands they performed their crooked work, cannot be got at. The suggestion is put forward by the German racing Press that the Association would also do well to turn its attention to certain owners and trainers who are deep in the same class of swindle. The German racing public is long suffering, as the frequent Turf swindles show, but it is beginning to become restive at the sight of so many hard-held, losing favourites and professional obstructionists.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Times says:—Business in Stock markets was on a disappointingly small scale yesterday—in fact, there appeared to be even less doing than on the previous day. A fair amount of buying was reported in the gilt-edged market, and Grand Trunk Railway Stocks were in renewed request. The heaviness of the markets in Oil and South African Shares was attributed to sales on French account, and provincial selling weakened the tone of the markets in Iron and Steel and Textile Shares.

ANOTHER RISE IN COTTON.

LIVERPOOL SOARS 85 POINTS.

Liverpool Cotton Market was again buoyant yesterday, and the September closing showed a rise of 85 points. All descriptions were in request at rising rates. Brazilian quotations were advanced no less than 52 points, after a jump of 56 points on Monday. East Indian and Egyptian were also in demand.

September 13.04d., October 13.00d., November 12.95d., December 12.88d., January 12.75d., February 12.65d.

Sales 15,000; Imports 11,183 bales. Market strong.

A GAIN OF 200 IN NEW YORK.

In New York yesterday cotton opened strong at 119 to 145 gain, and became excited, and advanced on heavy general buying, firm cables, improved Wall street and Southern spot conditions, and bullish private crop advices. Shorts were badly scared, and the market closed strong at a uniform gain of 200. Spot quiet, 195 up. New Orleans spot rose 200.

Receipts—Atlantic (three days), 9,000; Gulf (three days), 39,000. Exports—British (three days), 13,000; Continent (three days), 45,000; Japan (three days), 10,000.

VICTIMS OF THE R 38.

AMERICAN BODIES GOING HOME.

Huge crowds witnessed the departure from Hull last night of the bodies of the American victims of the airship disaster for Plymouth. A short Service, conducted by the Chaplain of the Howden Airship Base, preceded the removal of the remains from the mortuary to the railway station. The Lord Mayor and the Corporation followed in the procession, which was headed by the band of the 1st Battalion of the West Yorkshire Regiment, and the caskets containing the bodies were borne on aircraft trailers drawn by motor tenders, each draped with the American flag. Among the floral tributes was a representation of the ill-fated R 38, from the fellow-shipmates of the victims.

The bodies will arrive at Plymouth this morning, and will be placed on board H.M.S. Dauntless for conveyance to America. The Naval Barracks will provide an escort and a guard of honour at Plymouth, and the Impregnable will fire twenty minute-guns.

THE KING'S SHOOTING.

Yesterday the King, with other seven sportsmen, shot over Moy Moors. Good sport was enjoyed. When the Royal party returned the bag totalled 450 brace of grouse.

LOUTH BY-ELECTION.

The writ for Louth by-election was received yesterday at Lincoln. The nominations were fixed for the 13th inst. and the polling for the 22nd. The votes will be counted on the 23rd.

BRADFORD'S INVITATION TO CAPTAIN LOSEBY.

Captain Loseby, who was returned at the last election as the National Democratic Party's member for East Bradford, and who recently said that his party's aims were the same as those of the Coalition Liberals, has been invited by the Bradford Coalition Liberal Organisation to contest East Bradford at the next election.

MORE POPLAR ARRESTS.

Councillors T. J. Goodway and A. V. Farr, members of Poplar Council, were yesterday evening arrested by the Sheriff's officer. There is only one member, Councillor Sumner, now at liberty.

DAYLIGHT BANK RAID.

HAUL CARRIED AWAY IN WASTE PAPER BASKET.

The little town of Kingscourt, in County Cavan, was the scene of a daring bank robbery in broad daylight on Monday.

About 11.30 a.m. four men drove up to the Hibernian Bank in a grey motor car, and, while one remained at the wheel, the others entered the building, and, whipping out revolvers, ordered the manager and the two clerks to "put up their hands." The officials did so.

The robbers then seized a sum of about £1,500, in loose cash and notes. They also took a number of bags of copper coin, and, placing them in a waste paper basket, carried them out to the motor car. The motor car was driven away with the men towards Shercock.

A man who left the bank just before the bandits entered said that a grey Rover motor car had been in the town for about an hour before it was driven to the bank. During the morning three other cars were in the town, and at the time of the robbery one of them was pulled up nearly opposite the bank. He called at the manager's house, and found that the men, in addition to seizing the bank's money, had turned out a quantity of silver spoons and other silver ware belonging to the manager. On being informed that they were the manager's private property, they left without touching them.

BIG SHIPBUILDING DEAL.

CONTROL OF WORKMAN AND CLARK'S YARDS.

It was definitely stated in Belfast yesterday that a powerful syndicate of shipowners, with Lord Pirrie as negotiator, has acquired from the Northumberland Shipbuilding Company control of both Messrs. Workman and Clark's extensive Belfast shipyards, the intention being greatly to extend both yards. This will enable several extensive orders recently placed with Harland and Wolff, of which Lord Pirrie is the head, to be executed in the newly-acquired concerns.

NOTHING KNOWN IN BELFAST.

The secretary of Messrs. Workman, Clark, and Company, Belfast, interviewed last night regarding the report that a syndicate, with Lord Pirrie as negotiator, was acquiring control of that business, stated that nothing was known in Belfast concerning the matter.

FAIRBAIRN-LAWSON DEAL.

The Financial News understands that provisional arrangements have been made for the union of the firms of Fairbairn, Lawson, Combe, Barbour, Limited (Leeds, Belfast, and Lille); Urquhart, Lindsay, and Company, Limited (Dundee), and Robertson and Orchar, Limited (Dundee).

FOUNDING OF SINN FEIN.

DAIL EIREANN MINISTER'S SPEECH.

Speaking at Courtown Harbour (Gorey), Mr. Sean R. Etchingham, M.P., said that they never had politics in Ireland until the founding of the Gaelic Athletic Association and the Gaelic League, and then followed Sinn Fein, and the three bodies combined gave them the Boy Scouts, the Irish Volunteers, and they all knew the rest. (Cheers.) The Gaelic League gave ninety per cent. of the men who rose in Easter, 1916, and it also gave the President of the Irish Republic. (Cheers.) They all got their aspirations from it, and they would continue to fight till Ireland was completely free from foreign thrall. Under a free Ireland no one but those conversant with the Irish language would get positions, and he reminded them that a free Ireland without the language would not be a nation, and would only be a State. (Applause.)

Mrs. Scott-Baker, an American visitor, said that she was particularly struck by the close resemblance between what is happening in Ireland to-day and that which happened in America in the time of George Washington. When Dail Eireann met in Dublin she saw their gallant Volunteers guarding the approaches to the Mansion House, and she thought that they looked just as the Americans must have looked, and she said so to General Macready. (Hear, hear, and laughter.)

Mr. Osmond Esmonde, having referred to the great work which the Republican Government had been doing during the past terrible year, said that, as they knew, Mr. Etchingham was a Minister of Fisheries, and that, although General Macready had been fishing for him for two years, he had not succeeded in catching him yet. (Laughter, and hear, hear.)

VOLUNTEER'S FUNERAL.

BIG DISPLAY IN ROSCOMMON.

The remains of Lieutenant Schally, of the I.R.A., were removed yesterday from Kilteevan Graveyard, where they were temporarily interred, to the family plot in Cloontusket. The circumstances in connection with his death were peculiar. Some months ago Crown forces had a trench on the public road in the Lanesboro' direction refilled, and it is alleged that an explosive was placed in the trench. A short time afterwards the deceased man, with others, was reopening the trench, when the explosive went off, injuring Schally to such an extent that, after lingering for some weeks, he died.

The funeral was arranged for 2 o'clock. The coffin was placed on an extemporised gun carriage, covered by the tri-colour. The Volunteers from Athlone, Ballinasloe, Galway, Sligo, Mayo, Longford, Loughlynn, etc., numbering between 800 and 900, marched behind the remains, the officers in charge of the various companies being in uniform. There was an enormous attendance of the general public, the funeral cortège stretching for over three miles. Cloontuskert graveyard, a distance of about six Irish miles from Kilteevan, having been reached, Father O'Flanagan delivered a panegyric. The "Last Post" was sounded, and three volleys were fired over the grave before it was closed. All the shops in Roscommon were closed, and the blinds were drawn in private houses.

INTERNEES' COMPLAINTS.

WEXFORD CORPORATION'S CONCERN.

At the monthly meeting of the Wexford Corporation a resolution congratulating the Most Rev. Dr. Byrne on his appointment to the Roman Catholic Archbishopric of Dublin was adopted.

Attention was called by Alderman P. Clancy to the treatment being meted out to Irishmen in prison and internment camps. He suggested that something should be done, if possible, to help those prisoners, and he thought that the Town Clerk should be directed to write on behalf of the Corporation to Mr. Lloyd George.

Alderman R. Corish objected to Alderman Clancy's suggestion. It was the opinion of the elected representatives of the Irish people that no representations should be made to England for anything.

Alderman Clancy inquired why the terms of the truce were not extended to the internment camp prisoners.

The Mayor replied that the Irish representatives were fully alive to the position of the prisoners, but that it was not their policy to crave anything from England.

WEXFORD'S PUBLIC LIGHTING.

The attention of the Corporation was called to the public lighting question. It was stated that on the 1st September annually the Corporation entered into a contract with the Wexford Gas Consumers' Company for lighting the streets, but the company now wrote and said that the lamplighter was on strike, and it could not, therefore, carry out the contract at present.

The Mayor said that the Corporation had carried out its duty to the public by directing the company to light the town. If the company did not carry out its contract when the strike ended, steps would be taken to compel it to do so.

Mr. Hayes said that Wexford was a hundred years behind the times. Neighbouring villages had electric light.

The Mayor pointed out that it would cost £25,000 to instal electricity in Wexford.

CHAR-A-BANC HAZARDS.

NEW POLICE ARRANGEMENTS.

The Chief Commissioner of the Dublin Metropolitan Police has fixed hazards for chars-à-bancs plying in the city, and the following places and the number of vehicles for each are set out in a notice which was issued yesterday:—

St. Stephen's Green, North—Seven.
St. Stephen's Green, West—Two.
Burgh quay—Ten.
Rutland square, North—Six.
Kingsbridge—Three.
Harcourt street—Three.
Amiens street—Three.
Broadstone—Three.
Kingstown Railway Station—Three.

NEW TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

A revised system of stopping places for tramcars came into operation in Dublin on Monday, in connection with the new traffic regulations. The general principle is that tramcars, instead of stopping after passing crossings and turning corners, will stop before reaching these points. As an illustration: outgoing cars going via George's street will stop in Dame street, instead of in George's street.

IRELAND'S CRITICAL DAY.

ALL EYES ON INVERNESS.

CABINET AND MR. DE VALERA'S LETTER.

VICEROY AND HEADS OF FORCES PRESENT.

MR. DE VALERA AND THE WILL TO PEACE.

The Cabinet meets to-day at Inverness to deal with Mr. de Valera's letter.

All available Ministers have been summoned, and, in addition, there will be at hand for consultation the Viceroy, the Chief Secretary, and General Macready and General Tudor, representing the Army and police forces.

Before the Cabinet meeting Mr. Lloyd George will have breakfast with the King and possibly will discuss the situation with His Majesty.

It is expected that Ministers will arrive at a decision which will enable negotiations to continue. There is, however, a strong feeling against any further waste of time.

In Dublin the day is regarded as critical, but there are hopes that it may bring forth peace.

Mr. de Valera, in an interview yesterday, declared that Ireland desired peace and friendship. England, however, offered margarine instead of butter. Ireland was paying for butter, and would have to eat it, too. Pitt's work must be scrapped, and the débris cleared away, to find a foundation for a natural union.

The Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress has sent a strong memorial to the Prime Minister urging peace with Ireland.

AWAITING THE DECISION.

HOPES OF PEACE.

Interest in the Irish political situation is now centred in the meeting of the Cabinet at Inverness to-day. Its decision is awaited with keen interest by the Irish public, as it is realised that it will mark the turning point of the negotiations. The feeling is hardening in favour of a conference at which Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries will attend and thresh out the whole matter.

The statement made by Mr. de Valera yesterday, in which he expressed the hope that the foundation will be laid for a natural union between Great Britain and Ireland, is regarded as significant after his recent reply to Mr. Lloyd George. It is taken as emphasising his desire, his "ardent desire," for peace.

Whether it will lead to peace remains for to-day's meeting to decide, but it is felt that, despite all that has been written, and despite much vehement language, the outcome will be a conference at which straight talking will be indulged in by men authorised to face vital issues.

By Mr. de Valera's talk with Press representatives the impression was certainly conveyed that the door to peace is as widely open as ever it was.

Among shrewd judges of the situation in Dublin the view is strongly held that this latest pronouncement, taken in conjunction with the speech of Mr. Michael Collins at Armagh, tends greatly to improve the political atmosphere and to brighten the prospects of an honourable settlement.

"IRELAND WANTS BUTTER."

MR. DE VALERA ON MARGARINE.

Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald, of the Publicity Department of Dail Eireann, announced yesterday that Mr. de Valera, in an interview with Press representatives, said:—

"It seems that it is a grievous political sin these days to keep one's eyes open. Plain common-sense is sneered at as rhetoric and logic. British Imperial salesmen, trying to sell Ireland a second-rate political margarine, are very angry because we do not accept the 'butter' label they have put on, and believe all the advertising stuff they have had printed about it. If it were real butter it would not need all this advertisement.

"The Irish people will have to pay for the article they buy, and will have to eat it, too, and, having had not a little experience, they are shrewd judges now both of butter and of margarine. They know, moreover, that the article pointed out in the shop as the article being sold is very unlikely to be the article that will finally reach them.

"Ireland wants butter, and the Irish people will not be deceived into thinking they have got it until they see it actually delivered.

"The English Press asks have we a will to peace? Yes, we have, and an ardent desire. It is for that very reason that we refuse to see things other than as they are. Peace will never be founded on make-believe. Let us tear aside the camouflage, and put away the hypocrisy. If England is issuing an ultimatum, let it be an ultimatum. Brute force, naked and unabashed, has been used against small nations before. Our nation has known it for long. The present generation, even our little children, have experienced it, and no pretence will hide a threat of force from being recognised for what it is.

NO BASIS IN RIGHT.

"England has no basis in right for a single one of the demands she is making upon Ireland. She would not dare to make them to a Power even nearly as strong as herself. They are made to us, simply because it is felt that Britain is strong enough to enforce them, and that Ireland is too weak to resist successfully. That is the naked truth, and it is useless attempting to hide it. For a peace secured in these circumstances no one would have the slightest respect. Certainly no Irishman would feel bound by any arrangement thus arrived at with this background of imposition by force. War, not peace, would surely be the outcome.

"Ireland and Britain are neighbours. The natural forces of mutual interests and common purposes would have brought the two peoples together long ago as real friends in voluntary co-operation, had not rulers and statesmen, with their cursed meddling and artificial contrivances, interposed insuperable barriers—barriers which the British Government's proposals seek to continue and perpetuate. Had the representatives of the British Dominions at their recent Conference sought to bind by formula and centralise by machinery the union that now exists between these States and Great Britain they would have disrupted their Empire. Wisely for the Empire they let very well be. If Pitt had been as wise there would be no Irish problem to-day, and Ireland would have been saved a century and a quarter of misery, and Great Britain a century and a quarter of shame. Pitt's work must be scrapped, and the débris cleared away to find a foundation for a real natural union between Ireland and Britain. We are struggling to get to that foundation. We know exactly what we are doing, and all who desire to see Britain and Ireland friends and at peace will lend a helping hand.

RECEIVED WITH AMAZEMENT.

Writing last night, the Central News Political Correspondent says:—Mr. de Valera's statement has been received here with amazement. It is generally regretted. Yet it is argued that he cannot really wish to break off the peace negotiations, because all accounts from Dublin agree that the South of Ireland would regard such a result with abhorrence. The comments evoked in political circles by his language are of a blunter character than has been employed since the truce was established. Mr. de Valera is declared to have lost his temper, and that the Cabinet reply will be sharper in consequence is anticipated as a certainty.

LABOUR'S MESSAGE TO PREMIER.

MOST CRITICAL STAGE.

The Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress and the National Executive of the Labour Party, at a joint meeting at Cardiff last night, decided to send the following telegram to the Prime Minister on the Irish crisis:—

"The Irish negotiations have entered upon their most critical stage. The Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress and the National Executive of the Labour Party believes it would be a disaster if the deep, spontaneous feeling for peace which now pervades the two peoples were allowed to evaporate whilst their representatives are engaged in controversy by exchange of notes. New steps must now be taken. The British Government, in our opinion, should invite the representatives of the Irish people to meet them face to face in conference. The promotion of peace involves personal negotiation in conference in order that the British Government and the Irish leaders may escape from verbal controversy to a recognition of the realities of the problems which confront them. The termination of negotiations would, according to you (Mr. Lloyd George) mean the resumption of hostilities in an intensified form. We declare most emphatically that a new war would outrage the moral sense of the whole world, and would never receive the sanction of the British people. The Trades Union and Labour movement of this country must resist to the utmost a further reference to the arbitrament of force, and insist upon the assembly of a Peace Conference without delay. We believe that this is the desire of the citizens of both countries, and that once continuous conversations supersede written communication any obstacles to reconciliation would disappear, and negotiations would be carried to a successful issue."

MOMENTOUS MEETING.

ATTITUDE OF MINISTERS.

Mr. Lloyd George, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, the Chief Secretary, and Mr. Churchill have arrived in this neighbourhood, writes the Press Association's Special Correspondent at Inverness. A whole batch of Cabinet Ministers will reach Inverness early this morning, and the stage is set for what may well prove one of the most momentous Cabinet meetings in the history of the British Empire—a meeting that may cast the die which shall determine the issue of peace or war in Ireland. Apart altogether from the gravity of the issue, the gathering will be unique, seeing that never before have Ministers been called upon to travel close on seven hundred miles to meet their Chief in Council.

The situation is grave, and none realise its gravity more fully than the Ministers themselves, but even now "irrevocable" is a bad word to use. The "open door" may yet be kept ajar, but the prospects are not rosy. Nobody can say what the outcome of to-day's Council may be, not even the Prime Minister himself. The decision reached must be that of the Cabinet as a whole, and the responsibility for it a joint responsibility. But I was in close touch last evening with well-informed Government circles, and am convinced that several, at least, of the Ministers take the view that a point has been reached at which essay-writing, which leads to no practical results, can no longer be tolerated. The attitude of these ministers may be summarised somewhat in this way—"We have endeavoured to meet Ireland in a conciliatory and reasonable spirit, and we regard our offer as the limit of possible concessions. All our cards are on the table, and there must be an end to so-called negotiation which leads to nothing beyond a dictation of terms which neither this nor any other British Government can possibly concede." Then what is the logical sequence? Will the Government set a time limit to the truce? Will a final attempt be made to induce a more reasonable attitude, or will Ministers accept rejection of the terms as final, and act accordingly? To-day's meeting may show.

Whatever be the outcome, there is absolutely no justification for the suggestion made in some quarters that there is a "war party" in the Cabinet anxious for Cromwellian repression in Ireland.

BREAKFAST WITH THE KING.

PREMIER'S HIGHLAND JOURNEY.

The Prime Minister, accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd George, left Gairloch at eleven o'clock yesterday morning, and drove through some of the most magnificent scenery in the Highlands, to Lord Seaforth's castle at Brahan, near Dingwall, halting for lunch at one of the most entrancing beauty spots on the mountain side. They arrived shortly before four o'clock, and were cordially greeted by Lord and Lady Seaforth, after facing a battery of Press cameras, strongly reminiscent of Downing street at times of crisis or of special importance. Included in the party, which arrived then, or joined later, were Viscount FitzAlan, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Sir Nevil Macready, Sir E. Grigg (one of the Premier's private secretaries), Mr. Churchill, and Sir Robert Horne. Mr. Chamberlain also will stay at the Castle, but most of the Ministers are making their headquarters at the Station Hotel, Inverness, in close proximity to the Town Hall, where the Cabinet meets.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

At about 7.30 this morning the Premier leaves Brahan Castle for Moy Hall, where the King is the guest of The Mackintosh. He will breakfast with His Majesty, and doubtless will discuss the situation with him before the Cabinet Council. Afterwards Mr. Lloyd George will motor to Inverness Town Hall, and be welcomed by Provost Donald MacDonald before going to the Council Chamber on the first floor, where his Cabinet colleagues will await him.

The Council Chamber is a very fine apartment, which will comfortably seat the entire Ministry. Adjoining rooms will accommodate experts, secretariat, and typists, whose attendance may be required, and the main hall is also available. The latter has a very fine memorial window, with portraits of Queen Victoria and the Victorian Premiers, in stained glass; so that the Ministers will carry on their negotiations almost beneath the shadow of Gladstone, Salisbury, Rosebery, and other notables of that reign. In the Provost's room, which will be visited during the day, are portraits of honourable burgesses, including most of the notables of contemporary history. There is little prospect of getting through the business in hand at one sitting, and it has been arranged to serve a Cabinet luncheon in the committee room, so that the Ministers will not need to leave the Town Hall until they have completed their business.

Presuming that they can do this at their afternoon session, it is expected that a reply to Mr. de Valera will be settled to-day, and Mr. Lloyd George's present intention is to return to Gairloch to-morrow.

MINISTERS LEAVE LONDON.

THE JOURNEY NORTH.

The Inverness portion of the 7.30 train from Euston last night had on board seven Cabinet Ministers and one General, says the Press Association. They were:—Viscount Birkenhead, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Mr. Shortt, Sir Alfred Mond, Mr. Montagu, Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, Dr. Macnamara, and Major-General H. H. Tudor. All were travelling North for the special Cabinet meeting which is to be held at Inverness to-day to discuss the Irish situation.

No special saloon was reserved for the party. Eight berths were booked in one of the ordinary sleeping carriages. In each berth was a narrow six-foot bed, a grey blanket with coloured stripes, a clean white sheet and pillow, and a spare blanket, neatly folded on the rack—such as might be booked by any undistinguished passengers. There was no special lounge where they might all foregather comfortably, but none the less an informal discussion of the business before to-day's Cabinet, Mr. Shortt explained, would be almost sure to take place some time during the long journey.

MR. SHORTT'S FISHING RODS.

Mr. Shortt was on the platform thirty-five minutes before the time of departure. He appeared to be looking forward to the trip to the Highlands. "I have brought two fishing rods with me," he said, "and shall stay in Scotland after the meeting. I should have travelled on Monday night, in any case, to visit Sir George Peat, on the Isle of Eigg." Sir Alfred Mond arrived shortly afterwards. "I am not looking forward to the journey," he said, "we don't get there till 9.40 a.m., and I want to get back as soon as I can. I would rather have gone by aeroplane, but they might have said it was a waste of money."

Mr. Chamberlain and the Lord Chancellor followed soon after Sir Alfred Mond. Major-General Tudor, Mr. Montagu, and Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen were in their places at twenty-past seven, and three minutes before the train was due to leave, Dr. Macnamara strolled slowly up the platform, chatting with a secretary.

NO PHOTOGRAPH.

The distinguished party refused to have a group photograph taken. As the train moved out of the station, Mr. Chamberlain was seen in one corner of a compartment attacking the contents of a dinner basket. Sir Alfred Mond was in another corner, similarly occupied. Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, who had no dinner basket, sat watching them. The Lord Chancellor, in his sleeping berth, sat on his bed, smoking a cigar.

Neither the Marquis Curzon of Kedleston nor Mr. Baldwin was of the party leaving Euston. In the case of the Marquis Curzon he was prevented by indisposition from attending the Cabinet meeting in Inverness.

CORK STRIKE OVER.

JOINT CONFERENCE TO MEET.

A ONE-DAY SOVIET.

The strike of the Cork Harbour Board Transport Workers for a minimum wage of 70s. a week ended yesterday afternoon after some extraordinary developments, the cause of the dispute being referred to a conference to be presided over by a chairman to be appointed by the "Labour Department," Dail Eireann.

At Monday's meeting of the Board, Mr. Robert Day, Secretary of the Transport Workers, who is also a Harbour Commissioner, stated that, as the Board refused to grant a minimum wage of £3 10s. a week to its employés, the Transport Workers would take over the place, collect the dues from shipowners, and pay the wages. At half-past ten o'clock yesterday morning that audacious threat was actually carried into effect.

Sir James Long, Secretary to the Commissioners, was seated in his office when Mr. Day and two other members of the Transport Union entered and demanded possession of the office. Sir James informed them that he had no authority for acceding to such a request, but the deputation insisted on assuming control. Sir James Long then left, and the three members of the Transport Workers' Union took their seats at the desks. No books or documents were available, however, as they had been locked in the safes on the previous night.

THE HARBOUR SOVIET MEETS.

In the afternoon a largely attended meeting of the Transport Workers was held in the Board-room. Alderman Kennedy said that they had agreed to submit the matter to a conference, to be presided over by a man appointed by Dail Eireann, but they had refused to agree to a proposal of the Board that the dispute should be referred to arbitration, the arbitrators to be a representative of the Board, a representative of the workmen, and a representative of Dail Eireann.

Mr. Day addressed the meeting as "Comrades, fellow-Bolshevists." They had faith in the Red Flag alone, he said, and would fight for it against the "Republican Army" or the "Black and Tans." They did not want to fight the Government of their country, however; their quarrel was with the Cork Harbour Commissioners. If, however, the Republican Government wanted to make blacklegs of the workers, who were members of the Irish Republican Army—well, there was trouble in store. When he put Alderman Higgins and de Roiste in front of the "Secretary of Labour," Dail Eireann, they had very little to say. He (Mr. Day) advised Mr. Higgins to abandon his attitude. I said, continued Mr. Day, "I'm getting no £8 a week from the Harbour Commissioners. You are a paid vice-guardian, but I'm not paid. I don't want any pay for this work." As soon as an agreement was signed they would be instructed to go to work, but if the necessity arose they must strike again.

The company then joined in a hearty singing of "The Red Flag," and the meeting terminated.

Later in the evening both sides signed a formal agreement submitting the dispute to one representative nominated by the Harbour Board, one by the Transport Workers' Union, and a chairman appointed by Dail Eireann "Labour Department." The conference will sit next Saturday. In the meantime the men will continue at the old rates.

ULSTER'S PARLIAMENT.

CHALLENGED IN TYRONE.

An anti-partition resolution, which was received from the Tyrone County Council, caused a heated scene at the meeting of the Omagh Urban Council on Monday night, and drew from one Councillor the declaration that before the writ of the Ulster Parliament would be allowed to run in Tyrone the hillsides would flow with blood.

The Unionist members of the Council, led by Mr. Rogers and Mr. W. E. Orr, opposed the resolution, Mr. Orr stating that it was absurd to imagine that any resolution or series of resolutions which might be passed would have any effect on the Northern Parliament.

Mr. John O'Hanrahan, speaking in favour of the resolution, said that the principles of Sinn Fein were the principles of the United Irishmen and of the great Protestant patriots of the past; but unfortunately the times had changed, and the blood descendants of those patriots had brought themselves to such a pass that they could neither lay claim to King, flag, or country. The minority in this country had set up a so-called Parliament in Belfast. This amounted to nothing less than a rebel organisation, and it was guilty of nothing short of treachery to the lawful Government of Ireland—namely, the Government of the Irish Republic. This resolution was not intended to raise a fiery cross in Omagh or in the County Tyrone if it could be avoided, but it was intended to express to all whom it might concern the feeling of the majority of the people, and to address a warning that before the writ of the Belfast Parliament would run in Tyrone the hillsides would run with blood. The people of Belfast were up against a proposition such as they never were up against in all their history, and if an attempt were made to enforce the laws of a Belfast Parliament and bloodshed resulted, the shame and humiliation must be placed on those who made the attempt.

Several exciting incidents occurred during the debate, and eventually the resolution was carried on a majority.

STRABANE AGAINST PARTITION.

A resolution was carried by a majority of three at a meeting of Strabane Urban Council on Monday night, protesting against the partition of County Tyrone, which was called an injustice on the people. Three Unionists at the meeting dissented.

ANGRY UNEMPLOYED.

STONES HURLED AT COUNCIL OFFICES.

Serious unemployment disturbances occurred in Dundee yesterday afternoon. A crowd of several thousands besieged the parish Council offices, and demanded relief on the lines of a memorandum issued by the Scottish Board of Health in regard to giving relief to able-bodied unemployed men and women who are destitute. Stones were thrown at the building and windows, and doors smashed. A Poor Law inspector who received a deputation stated that he would deal with all applications made in the usual manner. He had already taken the names of over a hundred applicants.

Disturbances, however, continued, and the police were compelled to draw their batons. In the conflict a police inspector was injured on the head by a stone. Several of the crowd were also injured. Many of the demonstrators were women and young people. Two men were arrested.

SPECIAL CONSTABLES ARRESTED

Two special constables and a civilian have been arrested on a charge of having carried away a quantity of liquor from John B. Mullen's shop, near Dungiven, County Donegal. It is alleged that shots were fired outside the house, and that threats were made before the door was opened.

THE STRIKE AT MESSRS. KELLETT'S.

The Dublin Workers' Council last night adopted a report of their secretary, which recommended that Messrs. Kellett, of Dublin, and their employés should be invited to a conference to arrange a settlement of the dispute.

DUBLIN CHEMICAL WORKERS.

In connection with the threatened strike of workers in the chemical trade in Dublin, which was to take place to-night, a conference has been arranged for this afternoon to consider the matter.

The men allege that wholesale dismissals have been made in the trade, and, in addition to this, wages have been reduced. Should the conference be successful the strike will not take place.

DUBLIN DOCKERS' BALLOT.

The ballot of the Dublin dockers on the question of accepting or rejecting the proposal of the employers, which was drawn up at a recent conference, was continued yesterday, and it is likely that the result will be known to-day.

The proposal was to reduce wages 3s. a day instead of 4s. a day as originally suggested, the reduction to begin with one shilling a day on the 12th inst., another shilling per day on the 12th October, and the third shilling on the 1st February next.

GERMANY'S NEXT PAYMENT.

DIVIDING THE FIFTY MILLIONS.

It has been semi-officially announced in Paris, says Reuter's Correspondent there, that Germany, with reservations regarding the adjustment of the final accounts, will make a payment of one milliard gold marks (£50,000,000) to the Reparations Commission, in accordance with the schedule of payments notified on the 5th May, 1921.

The Times Special Correspondent says:—Although the exact date of his departure from Paris is not yet definitely settled, M. Doumer, Minister of Finance, will in all probability be in London on Friday to take up with Sir Robert Horne, who has indicated that that day will be convenient to him, the preliminary negotiations for the reconsideration of the Convention of the 13th August, with regard to the division of the milliard gold marks which are due by the 31st August.

In the negotiations that led to the signing of the Convention, it was only at the last moment that Sir Robert Horne and his Belgian colleague discovered that they were not dealing with a Minister armed with full powers to conclude a settlement. The Convention was indeed, signed by M. Doumer only ad referendum, but this time there will be no such doubt.

ROBBERY WITH VIOLENCE.

SEQUEL TO DUBLIN "HOLD UP."

Yesterday, in the Southern Police Court, Dublin, before Mr. Cooper, K.C., a taxi-cab driver named William Kenny, of Orwell road, was charged with conspiracy to rob and with robbing with violence Mr. John Wilson, 15 Upper Baggot street, of £300. There was a further charge of assaulting Mr. Wilson by presenting a revolver at him.

Mr. J. W. Davis, solicitor, prosecuted for the police.

Evidence was given by Mr. J. M. Wilson, who is a partner in the firm of Messrs. R. and J. Wilson, confectioners, that on 13th August he visited the different branches to collect the cash. He afterwards drove with a motor car to Fleming's place, where he had a garage. He had £300, or just over that amount, in a bag, chiefly in notes, including £50 or £60 in silver. He had just switched off the engine in the garage when three men with revolvers rushed in. They shouted out, "Hands up!" or something to that effect, and covered him and the vanman with their revolvers. One of the men took out the bag containing the money from the car, and another raised the bonnet and cut the wires connecting the sparking plug, making the remark, "That's all right now." One of the men just before they left said, "Don't leave this place for ten minutes." They then left, taking the money with them. Witness identified the accused as the man who cut the wires.

In answer to Mr. Cooper, witness said that there was an electric light on in the garage.

Answering Mr. Burne, witness said that the accused wore a trench coat and a soft hat on the night in question, but he could not say whether he had a collar on, nor could he say what was the colour of his trousers. A second man was dressed similarly, but he could not describe the dress of the third man.

Inspector Forrest, who, with Sergeants Killeen and Donnelly, had charge of the case, gave evidence as to the identification parade, and said that when arrested accused stated that he was a taxi-driver, that he was at the Park Races that day, that he afterwards went to Seville place for his tea, and then drove to Orwell road and met a lady friend.

Accused was remanded in custody until Monday.

IRISH CONFECTIONERY.

SEVERAL AWARDS TO BELFAST.

The Confectioners' and Bakers' Exhibition at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, is a very fine and comprehensive show this year, and marks the wonderful strides made by the trade since the war. The exhibition of sweets and confectionery is extremely good, while on the more useful side the classes for bread and cakes have filled most satisfactorily. There are six classes for Irish bread, meaning definitely bread made in Ireland. The Irish judges for these classes were—Mr. J. Baire (Belfast), Mr. T. J. Curran (Cork), Mr. H. Kennedy (Dublin), Mr. L. O'Brien (Waterford), Mr. G. O'Neill (Kinsale), and Mr. J. Russel (Limerick), and the judging will take place to-day.

The following were the Irish awards in the Confectionery Section:—Cakes, Block Cakes, Fruit and Cherry—1st prize (gold medal), J. Anderson (Belfast), block cakes, currant and fruit; 2nd, Landen's, Ltd. (Belfast); 3rd, Craskery Bros. (Belfast).

Madeira Cakes and Seed Pound Cakes—1st prize (gold medal), Craskery Bros.

Confectionery Section—Private Firms' Competition:—Scones (2 varieties)—2nd prize, Landen's (Belfast). Cakes—1st prize, J. Anderson (Belfast).

SORRY REVENUE RETURN.

HEAVY EXPENDITURE.

Last night's revenue returns make a sorry showing, the national expenditure of the week, which amounted to £29,034,172, being as much as £12,863,697 in excess of the income. This is accounted for mainly by the larger payments in respect of interest on the war debt, which totalled £17,618,301, while the supply services absorbed £11,174,675. A severe commentary on the general state of trade is afforded in the receipts from Customs, which are no more than £2,596,000, while Excise only contributed £825,000. Income tax was again the chief source of contribution, with ingatherings amounting to £6,818,000, and estate duties brought in £548,000. It is curious, however, to find the Post Office producing nothing whatever towards the week's revenue. The contribution from this department is usually about £1,000,000. Nothing, either, was received in respect of duties on motor vehicles. It is evident that the new Treasury Bond issue has not benefited to any extent by the release of dividend money last week. The weekly receipt of subscriptions amounted to only £620,000, thus bringing the total received from this source to £17,740,000. As a result of the heavier expenditure during the period covered by the revenue return, an addition of £11,135,000 has been made to the floating debt, raising the total to £1,358,000,000. No less than £21,000,000 was borrowed from the Bank of England and £5,400,000 from other departments, but, on other hand, the total of Treasury Bills outstanding has been reduced by £15,265,000 to £1,150,707,000.

RECEIPTS.

	Estimate for 1921-22. £	Receipts 1st April, 1921, to 3rd Sept., 1921. £
Customs	126,800,000	53,267,000
Excise	196,200,000	77,440,000

DUBLIN REVENUE OFFICIAL RETIRES.

Mr. Arthur William Beatty, who has served for nearly forty years in the office of the Comptroller of Stamps and Income Tax, Dublin, has retired, and on Monday was the recipient of his colleagues' felicitations, and a presentation to himself and Mrs. Beatty. The Comptroller, Mr. Minnis, in making the presentations, which took the form of a grandfather clock, and a gold wristlet watch for Mrs. Beatty, paid a tribute to Mr. Beatty's ability, unfailing courtesy, and tact. Major Whewell, Registrar of the Estate Duty Office, and Mr. Collins, of the Solicitor's Branch of the Inland Revenue, spoke of Mr. Beatty's friendly interest in the welfare of the staff.

Mr. Beatty, in returning thanks, contrasted the conditions of official life forty years ago with those of to-day. He spoke of the pride and pleasure which he had always been able to take in his office, and of the good-will and fraternal spirit which had always existed between the members of the staff.

During the racing at Doncaster yesterday afternoon a man in the second class enclosure fell dead. The heat was extreme, and many fainting cases were treated at the ambulance station.

LABOUR'S CALL TO PARLIAMENT.

WORK OR ADEQUATE MAINTENANCE.

FULL-DRESS DEBATE AT CARDIFF.

There was a full-dress debate at the Trades Union Congress at Cardiff yesterday on unemployment. The resolution submitted by the Parliamentary Committee and moved by the President, Mr. Poulton, suggested no remedies for unemployment—calling on the Government instead to introduce practicable schemes of work. The Labour movement is committed by the resolution to a demand for work or adequate maintenance.

Contrary to expectation, there was no discussion on the miners' dispute and the calling off of the Triple Alliance strike.

The President moved on behalf of the Parliamentary Committee an emergency resolution viewing with grave apprehension the increasing extent and conditions of unemployment, reaffirming the principle that it was the duty of the State to provide work or adequate maintainance for every willing worker, approving the action of those boards of guardians which, in the absence of proper Government assistance, had made a serious endeavour adequately to relieve the urgent necessities of the workless, but emphatically expressing the opinion that such a burden, mainly due to the war, should not have been imposed on the ratepayers, and must be removed from them.

The resolution also called upon the Government to summon Parliament and to introduce practicable schemes of work without delay with the necessary financial provision; and further, to remove the gross inequalities of rating obtaining in the London area. It expressed the opinion that the Poplar Councillors in the stand which they believed to be the best to take under the exceptional circumstances to call public attention to the distressful conditions of the unemployed, had rendered a real national service. It pledged the Congress to use all the strength at its command to secure the provision of work or adequate maintenance for the unemployed workers throughout the country, and instructed the new General Council, in close co-operation with the Executive of the Labour Party and the Parliamentary Labour Party, immediately to take such steps as might be necessary to secure these objects.

Mr. Poulton said they would continue this agitation until they secured justice for the unfortunate men and women who, against their own will, were forced into idleness. If the Government would not act compulsion must be brought to bear upon them. The Labour Party scheme for preventing unemployment still held the field, and the problem should be dealt with on a national scale. (Cheers.)

POPLAR PROBLEM.

Mr. Harry Gosling (Transport Workers' Federation) seconding, said that the Poplar Councillors were standing for the equalisation of rates over London. An area like Poplar was full of casual workers, and their Council refused to levy a rate which those people could not pay. Such districts must be relieved from the burden of their unemployment, and it was ridiculous that Westminster and other rich districts should stand aside while all this took place. It seemed that in order to mend the law they must first break it. (Cheers.) That was the position. Unless something was done to unify rates in London and relieve the burden of unemployment and make it a national charge the evil would continue.

Mr. Ben Tillett, M.P., in an impassioned speech, declared that if the delegates imagined that either the Prime Minister, the Cabinet, or Parliament were the chief factors to ameliorate the existing conditions, they were living in a fool's paradise. Parliament was in the hands of a financial gang without heart or soul, for whom had been offered on the battlefield the blood and bodies of the best men of the country. This financial gang possessed such power that they controlled the banks and manufacturing firms were in pawn to the banks.

"Our country is at this moment in a state of bankruptcy," Mr. Tillett proceeded, "let use face that fact. Our country is insolvent, and every unemployed man or woman is a factor towards its downfall."

Mr. George Barker, M.P., said that in South Wales there were 50,000 miners unemployed, and the position there was worse than in Poplar. He hoped there would be a council of action, and not inaction, set up to rescue the people dying of starvation. (Cheers.)

IDLE DOCK WORKERS.

Mr. Ernest Bevin said that in the London Dock area there were 62,000 men registered as dock workers. The greatest number employed on any one day since August last was 29,000. This ought to convey an impression of the industrial tragedy. He congratulated the railwaymen, 'busmen, and tramwaymen upon their guaranteed week. Poplar was saddled with a burden of £10,000 a week to maintain these unemployed dockers. The Port of London Authority had two millions of money it did not know what to do with. He suggested that the Port of London Authority should help Poplar with that £2,000,000 by paying a guaranteed week. (Cheers.)

Mr. Jack Jones, M.P., said that for 30 years they had been agitating for the equalisation of the rates of London. They had carried out the law, but the law had left them in the lurch and told them that the poor must keep the poor, which meant feeding the dog on its own tail. They were asking that no longer should the rich escape their responsibility. A better suggestion than a general strike was a rent strike. They could at least say that until this problem of local taxation and national responsibility was dealt with they would refuse to pay their share. (Cheers.)

Mr. J. R. Clynes (Chairman of the Parliamentary Labour Party) said that they had repeatedly warned the House of Commons of what the winter would bring, and what now existed could surprise no one. The present Parliament was callous and unsympathetic and totally unwilling, under the pressure either of strong language in resolutions or the ceremonious approach of any deputation, however influential its personnel, to so organise our national resources as to meet the needs of the unemployed. The problem was one of State national organisation, pending the return of that condition of international trade upon which a commercial country like England so much depended. There were sufficient internal resources to shield the victims of the present appalling conditions. The Labour movement must demonstrate and approach every member of Parliament, whatever his party; the local organised forces of Labour should organise demonstrations, and insist that Parliament should be called together and deal with unemployment on practical lines, Irish question or no Irish question. (Cheers.)

The President said that the suggestion of Labour demonstrations all over the country to compel Parliament to take action would be most favourably considered.

The resolution was carried with unanimity, and the Congress adjourned.

DUBLIN KIDNAPPING.

NO TRACE OF MISSING MAN.

No information was available yesterday regarding the whereabouts of the young man Edward Connor, who was taken from his home at Repeal court, Dublin, by armed men on Sunday night.

As already reported, five or six armed men went to the cottage on Saturday in search of Connor, but, as he was not there, they went away without stating the reason of their inquiry. On the following night, however, they found him, dragged him into the lane and carried him away.

The young man's mother has been considerably upset since her son was taken away, and yesterday she was preparing to remove from the cottage, dreading another visit.

BELFAST NEWS.

CHARGE OF ATTEMPTED MURDER

At the Belfast Police Court yesterday, James Brown, Glentill street, and William Campbell, Killarney street, were returned for trial at the next Assizes, charged with shooting at Sergeant Chris. Clarke, with intent to murder, on August 27th last. The charge arose out of disturbances which took place on Springfield road on the date mentioned. A further charge against Campbell of shooting at Robert Grey, of Clovelly street, was not proceeded with, Grey failing to identify him. They were allowed out on bail.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE RIOTS.

Charles Harvey, of Columbus street, Belfast, died at the Mater Infirmorum Hospital early yesterday morning. He had been wounded during the disturbances on Tuesday last.

A FATAL COLLISION.

A fatal motor accident occurred on Monday night near Bangor, County Down, the victim being James Taylor (25), of Donaghadee. Taylor was on a motor cycle when he collided with a motor car, driven by Mr. J. G. Russell, of Holywood, a director of the North of Ireland Motor Company, Belfast, who had his wife and a friend in the car with him. When the motor bicycle struck the car its rider was thrown on the road, and was rendered unconscious. He was taken to Bangor, where it was found that life was extinct.

BELFAST HARBOUR RETURNS.

At the meeting yesterday of the Belfast Harbour Commissioners, the Chairman being the Right Hon. H. M. Pollock, D.L., the Harbour Master reported that 395 vessels arrived at the Port from 14th August to 3rd September. The total tonnage of vessels arrived from 1st January to 3rd September was:—Coastwise and cross-Channel, 1,136,557; foreign, 398,544; non-trading, 124,047; total, 1,659,148. A decrease in coastwise and cross-Channel of 358,825; increases in foreign of 126,916 and in non-trading of 76,797, or a total decrease of 155,112.

OBJECTION TO SUNDAY BANDS.

At a meeting of the Presbytery of Belfast yesterday, a resolution was, on the motion of the Rev. John Pollock, seconded by the Rev. A. F. Mood, passed unanimously, protesting against the action of the City Council in arranging for band performances at Bellevue on Sundays. This action the Presbytery regards as a "step towards the secularisation of the Christian Sabbath and imperilling the day of rest," and they most earnestly appeal to the Council to revise and reverse its decision.

BELFAST AND THE DOLE.

At yesterday's meeting of the Belfast Board of Guardians, Mr. John Kennedy referred to the fact that the unemployment dole was to be abolished, and added the opinion that during the next few weeks there would be a good deal of distress in Belfast. He understood that in England the Local Government Board had made grants to enable the Poor Law Boards to give special relief to the unemployed, and he desired to know if the Belfast Guardians intended to take any steps to secure a similar grant.

The Chairman pointed out that the grant referred to by Mr. Kennedy did not apply to Ireland. So far, there was no reason to anticipate any exceptional distress in Belfast during the coming winter, and, if such did arise, they could rely on the Relief Committee to do all in their power to alleviate it.

No action was taken.

DONEGAL CHURCH BURNED.

PASTOR AND SACRILIGIOUS INCENDIARISM.

On Sunday last the people of First Letterkenny Church, which was burned on the previous Wednesday morning, were accommodated in Trinity Church, where the Rev. W. Logan preached. He said that every vestige of their beautiful church, save the bare walls, had perished in the flames. To-day the congregation of Presbyterians, whose fathers for three hundred years had worshipped God on that old site according to the Scriptural order of their Church, would be without a home only for the kindness of the daughter Church in that place. If it had been by accident that their church was burnt down, then the loss would have been very hard to bear; but they were crushed by a still heavier burden. They were forced by the facts to believe that this country in which they were born, and in which their fathers had lived and toiled for generations—that this country was polluted by the presence of some creature who was capable of forcibly entering their church and deliberately burning a house consecrated to the worship of Almighty God. They could not believe that any organisation could possibly countenance such an action. From the clergy and people of every denomination he had received the most obviously sincere expressions of sympathy. Men and women of all creeds and classes had come to him to say how sorry they were, and to try and find if it were not possible to think that the burning was an accident. That there might be no mistake, he repeated the plain facts. No person was known to have been inside the church after the evening Service on Sunday. The church itself, and not the hall or any other part of the building, was discovered to be burning furiously on Wednesday morning. The entrance door was found broken through. They did not know who burned it; they did not even suspect anyone. They could not conceive any reason for the crime. Perhaps they should never know. They could only leave the miscreant or miscreants in the hands of Almighty God.

ROBBERY AT MESSRS. BOLANDS.

James O'Neill, a motor mechanic, was sent for trial yesterday, by Mr. Cooper, in the Southern Police Court, Dublin, on a charge of having taken part in the robbery, under arms, of a sum of £1,334 from Messrs. Bolands offices, at Grand Canal quay, in June last.

(late 2nd East Lancashire Regiment), of Abbey House, Athlone, who died on June 20th last, aged 50 years, from wounds inflicted by alleged Sinn Feiners, son of the Rev. R. U. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE PEACE PROPOSALS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—No one appears to me to have drawn attention to the fact that neither the Imperial Parliament nor Dail Eireann can make any agreement binding on posterity. Any future Parliament or Dail can, if it pleases, dissent from any agreement come to. The Dail—say, in five years' time—may again declare war on England unless further liberties or benefits are willingly conceded. The Imperial Parliament may consider it necessary to attempt the reconquest of Ireland; or, as it is devoutly to be hoped, both may seek a closer union than either at present appears to desire.

Why, then, stand out for a formal agreement? Why should not the Imperial Parliament at once begin to grant both to North and South Ireland the enormous political liberties which the Government has outlined—gradually, tentatively: in any case it would take time! Surely it is not beyond the wisdom of our rulers to say how best this could be done with least friction and least injury to individuals, and beginning, I should think, with fiscal and financial independence. This would at once tend to allay hostility, and lead to friendly relations. It is a case calling for solvitur ambulando.—Yours, etc.,

W. SOMERVILLE LARGE.

LABOUR'S FOLLY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In your account of the Trades Union Congress in your issue of to-day Mr. Poulton is reported as having said: "The facilities for producing goods were never more abundant or more efficient than to-day, enabling enormous quantities to be produced at very short notice. This in its turn . . . had the effect of throwing out of employment multitudes of workers." This is the same argument that Labour leaders have from time to time made against industrial progress. Arkwright suffered for years from their animosity and unreasoning vituperation; yet his spinning machine enriched the nation, and did more for the working classes than all the tub oratory and organised riots of that day. Opposition was provoked to George Stephenson's engine in 1814, and again in 1825, when blatant orators asserted that the "Puffing Billy" would drive ostlers to the workhouse and cause horses to be as extinct as the dodo.

Every progressive movement stimulates reactionaries into activity. The gerat Aldine Press was threatened with destruction and Manusio Aldo with death when, by improved metallurgy, he made better type. Being accused of having a familiar spirit who produced the improved type, Aldo brought forward a young Venetian boy whom he had, by payment of a large sum of money, rescued from slavery under Algerine pirates—the "printer's devil." The right of free speech, when abused, is no more than "sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."—Yours, etc., "A STUDENT."

NOVA SCOTIA AND THE IRISH CHURCH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In the accounts of the very notable celebrations in honour of the tercentenary of the granting of the charter of Nova Scotia, of which Annapolis Royal, the former capital of Nova Scotia, was the scene the other day, while many references were made to the great representative facts of the history of Nova Scotia and of its eminent men, there was one remarkable omission. The fact appears to have been forgotten that the first Colonial bishop of the Anglican Communion was Bishop of Nova Scotia. Charles Inglis, who was consecrated Bishop of Nova Scotia in Lambeth Chapel in August, 1787, had been Rector of Holy Trinity, New York, and was obliged, after a ministry of thirty years, to leave that city on the severance of the North American Colonies from the Crown as the result of the War of American Independence. It may be of interest to members of the Irish Church to be reminded that Charles Inglis was an Irishman, born in Kilcar, County Donegal, of which his father and his elder brother were rectors; that his grandfather and great-grandfather were also Irish clergymen; that Charles Inglis's son was the third Bishop of Nova Scotia, and that his great-grandson was Sir John Inglis, the hero of Lucknow.

I remember being much attracted by a magnificent early Georgian coffee pot in the house of my old friend, the late General Laurie, C.B., M.P., who had a large property in Nova Scotia. He told me that it had belonged to Bishop Inglis, who was an ancestor of Mrs. Laurie's, and that the bishop in his hurried departure from New York had buried the coffee pot, which, on revisiting that city many years afterwards, he recovered from the place where he had hidden it.

Charles Inglis was the recipient of an honorary degree at Oxford. Trinity College, Dublin, does not appear to have noticed him. In St. Patrick's Cathedral, however, there is a fine brass mural tablet to his memory, which owes its existence to the exertions of the Very Rev. Henry Vere White, now Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, whose own ministry for several years lay in one of the Dominions of the British Empire. The Bishop and clergy of Nova Scotia and the Corporation of Trinity Church, New York, from which Charles Inglis was ejected, were among the subscribers to this memorial, which some years ago one of the lineal descendants of Charles Inglis came with me to see.

The Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, in a very valuable and erudite work entitled "Children of St. Columba," published some years ago, which is a mine of information in relation to the splendid service of the Irish clergy in the work of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, devotes an illuminating chapter to the life of Charles Inglis.—Yours, etc.,

REFUND OF INCOME TAX.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I too am receiving unfair treatment at the hands of the Income Tax authorities. Last year I was informed by an official in one of the departments that I would not be liable for Income Tax this year. As a matter of fact, I knew that to be the case. I sent in my 1921-22 return during May last, and at the same time applied for a refund of nineteen guineas. Since then I have been asked to pay £23 11s. 6d., £15 13s. 4d. of which is said to be arrears due in respect of 1919-20, which had been dealt with and disposed of. I explained this fact to the authorities, and then I received from another department another demand note for payment of £17 10s. 11d., which sum includes the above arrears.

I never found the Income Tax officials correct in their assessments yet. In fact, their practice appears to be to assess an exaggerated amount and to leave it to their victim to prove the assessment wrong. I am in communication with five departments over my Income Tax, which means red tape, muddle, and expense. Last year I was told that I owed the Revenue £4 10s. 9d. I proved that the Revenue owed me that amount, but it was twelve months afterwards when I received the last instalment, for I had to drag the amount out of the Comptroller.—Yours, etc., "DISGUSTED."

MUNSTER.

A DUNGARVAN RENT CASE.—At Dungarvan Petty Sessions, a landlady applied for an ejectment order against a tenant for nonpayment of rent. It was stated that the tenant was advised that the rent would be increased by 3s. a week, but she refused to pay more than an increase of 2s. She tendered the money, which the plaintiff refused, and since then (December) no rent had been accepted, although the tenant had offered to pay it, plus an extra 2s. a week. For the defence, it was claimed that the plaintiff was not entitled to increase the rent by 5s. a week. The magistrates granted a decree for possession, and refused to state a case.

ALLIED DOG CLUBS' SHOW.

A successful show, under the auspices of the Allied Dog Clubs, was held at Messrs. Sewell's Auction Mart, Dublin, yesterday. The 92 classes catered for a wide variety of breeds, including deerhounds, Irish red setters, and Kerry blue terriers. Nearly all the classes filled satisfactorily. CORK SUMMER SHOW.

The Summer Show of the Munster Agricultural Society was opened in fine weather yesterday in Cork. There was a large attendance, and the Show, though much smaller in the horse and cattle sections than that of last year, was an excellent all-round display, which greatly pleased the judges. The decrease in the number of horses was due largely to the difficulty with which farming operations have been conducted in the South of Ireland during recent times, and to a certain amount of doubt in the minds of breeders as to the possibility of having a show at all this year. There were two special classes for Irish draught horses, the prizes for which were supplied by the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction, and although the entries were somewhat restricted there was a marked improvement in quality.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, TUESDAY.

Stocks opened strong. Mexican Petroleum advanced 6½ points on the settlement of the Mexican tax question; other Industrials and Railroads gained 1 to 4 points. GOLF.

IRISH OPEN AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP. THIRD AND FOURTH ROUNDS. SOME CLOSE MATCHES.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, CO. DOWN, TUESDAY.

Another glorious morning greeted the competitors left in the third round of the Open Amateur Championship, and the classic links of the Royal County Down Club presented a truly charming golfing picture. Much could be written about those lovely views, and of the wonderful colourings in which Slieve Donard presents itself from time to time during the day, but the golf is here the main consideration. Well, compared to yesterday, the proceedings were tame enough, but they were full of interest from first to last, and at the close the question that concerned most of the big crowd here was will Carter win the championship? He may. He is quite capable of doing so, but golf is a remarkably uncertain game; in fact, it beats cricket hollow in that respect.

For instance, yesterday we had Ellis beating Heziet, and Gorry beating Munn, while to-day we saw Hume administering a very severe thrashing to Major Heziet's conqueror, and Cecil McConnell bringing Carter to the penultimate green after the Royal Dublin man had been 5 up and 5 to play. Anything may happen between this and Thursday evening, but unless something out of the common occurs, Gorry and Carter should reach the final, although Carroll and Soulby are playing so well that their chances are not to be despised.

Regarding the incident in the Babingdon-Dwyer match on Monday, an obvious misprint crept into the report. It was not because Babingdon "lifted" the bits of loose grass that Dwyer claimed the hole, but because he scraped them aside with his putter.

THE THIRD ROUND.

They had only gone a couple of holes when it was evident that Ellis would have his work cut out to shake off his younger and much less experienced opponent, Hume. In fact, the latter started by taking the first two, and Ellis never could recover the lost ground. Indeed, when they entered on the second stage of the tourney, Hume had played himself into a four holes' lead by good, sound golf, and at the 12th Ellis was still in arrear. From that onwards Hume had the match won, and at the 15th Heziet's conqueror had followed him into retirement. The Harold Reade and Cecil McConnell match had a remarkable ending. It was a ding-dong struggle on the outward half, which ended all flat, but it took a surprising turn then. McConnell struck a wonderful patch, and won hole after hole to the 14th, where he entered the fourth round with a lead of 5 holes.

On Monday H. M. Cairnes showed something approaching his best form, but he did not keep it up, and succumbed this morning to N. Manly, whose win was most convincing. Cairnes, however, was right off his game, and hit a good drive or iron shot but rarely. As a matter of fact, he has not often played such poor golf in a championship. He was lucky to be only 4 down at the turn, Manly almost holing his chip shot from the side of the mound for 3, his ball lipping the hole. He was then laid a stymie, and lost, where he should have had a half with ordinary luck. The Royal Dublin man played steady, if not brilliant, golf, a remark that may be aptly applied to Carter, who was held by Davies right well up to a point. The latter may have been rattled at the first hole by a spectator, who would insist on loudly airing his opinions on everything and anything. Anyway, Davies lost the hole and the second also, but he stuck tenaciously to the close champion, bringing him down to one at the sixth, and deprived him of the lead at the eighth.

Davies had a great chance of taking the 9th in a 3. Carter's spoon shot here hit the top of the hill, and rolled down, and his pitch was past the pin, leaving him to sink a good length putt for 4. Davies had a shorter one for the hole, but failed to get it down. For several holes subsequently Carter was by no means on the top of his game. He gave Davies two other rare chances at the 10th and 11th, where his chip shots were only half hit; but while Davies halved the 10th, he lost the next, Carter holing a stiff putt for 4, his opponent being unable to get his down for the like from a couple of yards. Carter's best shot was his iron to the 12th, which enabled him to take a two holes' lead, but he played the next badly. He was laid a three-quarter stymie two yards from the hole, missed it, and from a couple of feet made a mess of his putt back; but he took the next three holes running, a grand spoon shot to the 16th assuring him of his 3 and the victory by 4 and 2.

Gerald Moore could not get down a putt of 6 feet in his match with Walter Carroll. His golf up to the green may have been sounder than the Dundalk man's, but Carroll's putting stood him in good stead. Moore won two of the first 9 holes, and his rival one, and, the others being halved, the Portmarnock man led at the turn by one. Carroll, however, got back his loss at the 10th, and, after playing the 13th, he was in the lead. Moore was stymied at the following hole, the ball being on the lip, and he lost this also, and in the rough off his drive to the 15th he fell further in arrears. The match ended at the 16th, where Carroll won with 3 holes in hand.

Joseph Gorry overwhelmed Captain McLean, being half a dozen holes up at the ninth, and winning two holes further on. The Kildare man was at his very best, and never gave his opponent a chance that he could avail of. Soulby advanced into the fourth round at the expense of H. K. West, whose best hole was the 9th, where he had a 2 to reduce his deficit to one (several players were within a yard of the pin at this hole with their tee shots). Soulby, however, played the stronger game coming home, and won handsomely by 5 and 3; while A. B. Babington put out W. R. Forde by 4 and 2, which represented sound, steady golf.

FOURTH ROUND.

The fourth round may be briefly summarised. It was noteworthy for the doggedness and the perseverance displayed by McConnell against Carter. The latter started off badly by requiring fives for the first two holes, taking three putts on each green, but from that on to the 9th, inclusive, he never made the least mistake. He played grand golf, and was out in 35 (554533343) for a lead of 4 holes. As already mentioned, he was 5 up with 6 to play, but then he went right off his game. McConnell won the next two holes running, and got down a long putt at the 15th to keep his flag flying. He followed this up by another success at the 16th, but he lost the 17th, and a very fine match, by 2 and 1.

Gorry had a comparatively easy victory over Marriott, although at the turn it was anyone's match, the players being level. Gorry, however, had 33 for the next eight holes. On two greens he might have got down in one less, but he took no risks, and he finally got home on the 17th by 3 and 1. Soulby stood 2 up on N. J. Small at the half-way stage. The former, strange to say, does not play the first nine well, and again it was on the way home that he asserted marked superiority over his opponent, who, nevertheless, brought him to the 16th green, where Soulby, who was playing all his shots right well, and putting with accuracy, won by 3 and 2. Manly had a rare set-to with Stevenson, but in the end prevailed, although it was only on the home green that he shook off the Malone man. Carroll romped away from F. Small, but Babington was not so fortunate against Wilson Smyth, as, after holding the latter to the turn, he suffered defeat by 3 and 2. Results:—

A Press Association New York telegram, dated Monday, states:—Jim Barnes (Pelham, U.S., open champion) to-day beat Jock Hutchison (Glenview, British open champion) by 5 and 4 in a 36 holes match for 2,000 dollars, one of the biggest stakes ever known in a golf match, and the outcome of a discussion soon after Barnes won the American title recently.

Mathieson (Edinburgh Academy), Shepherd (Blundell's), Dobbie (Tonbridge), Ibbitson (Lancing), Cotton (Dulwich), Govett (Harrow and South Camberley). Mathieson defeated the French representative, Maneuvrier, by one hole, this match, which was the chief contest of the day, being square at the 17th.

STRABANE v. DERRY CITY.

Strabane played their return match with City of Derry at Prehen on Saturday last. The home side won by 15½ points to 2½. The only two Strabane players who won their games were J. Mulvin and P. Westcar, while in the foursomes all the games were won by City of Derry, with the exception of one—that between Rev. J. Morrison and P. Westcar and J. P. M'Grath and D. M'Conachie, which was drawn.

JUBILEE VASE COMPETITION.

The Jubilee Vase competition of the Royal and Ancient Club went through its first and second rounds yesterday, and among those who qualified for the third round to-day were the Oxford University players, Tolley and Wethered, the latter halving his second round game with John Key, after a great finish, and going into the succeeding round under the rules of the competition. F. Richardson, who won on the last two occasions the Vase was played for, also halved in the afternoon, while beaten players included Leslie Balfour and Melville, the former Amateur Champion.

HERMITAGE.—Result of Saturday Cup:—J. Gilfoyle (13), 73, Class B, and J. Fielding (3), 75, Class A, qualified; best gross, J. Fielding 78. To-day—Wednesday Cup, third qualifying round.

SWIMMING.

SANDYCOVE OPEN 220 YARDS MIXED HANDICAP.

A mixed 220 yards handicap promoted by the Sandycove Swimming Club, for a cup presented by Mrs. Egan, met with a fine response from all the Dublin clubs, and no fewer than 76 competed in the seven heats, six of which were decided at Blackrock on Monday, and one last evening. It is satisfactory to note that the ladies performed well, and have several representatives in the final, which will be swum at Blackrock on Friday next. Results:—

First Heat—T. N. Molloy (15), 1; Miss M. Armstrong (42), 2; M. Brophy (scr.), 3. Time—3 mins. 6 secs. Second Heat—Miss M. Brophy (80), 1; M. Molloy (75), 2; M. Hickey (30), 3. Time—4 mins. 7 secs. Third Heat—Miss V. Stanton (45), 1; C. Fagan (5), 2; Miss Kiernan (65), 3. Time—3 mins. 35 secs. Fourth Heat—Miss K. O'Connell (75), 1; N. Mooney (60), 2; M. Cody (55), 3. Time—4 mins. 8 secs. Fifth Heat—Miss L. Clinch (90), 1; J. D. Egan (13), 2; Miss I. Egan (55), 3. Time—4 mins. 35 secs. Sixth Heat—A. Wallace (40), 1; Miss Hanna (42), 2; K. O'Neill (60), 3. Time—3 mins. 31 secs. Seventh Heat—E. E. Benson (5), 1; Miss Ahern (65), 2; K. Schoreman (35), 3. Time—2 mins. 55 secs.

Benson's performance is exceptionally smart, if not actually a record one, when it is taken into account that he uses the old side stroke. He moved faster in the initial stages than any of the others using the crawl and trudgeon strokes, and it would be interesting to see some of the crack swimmers make the experiment of trying Benson's methods. Several would find it less tiring than the modern strokes, which are so hard to acquire properly.

SANDYCOVE S.C.—A 50 yards handicap was decided last evening at Blackrock, three heats being necessary before the final was reached. All the heats produced capital finishes, which were highly complimentary to Mr. P. J. O'Neill's handicapping. In the final Cullen (8), recording the same time (33 secs.) as in his heat, won by a yard from J. Allen (2), who won his heat in 28 secs., and Barden (7) was a good third.

LADIES' SPRINT.—The Sandycove Ladies' Club also decided a 50 yards handicap for Mrs. Meers' prize, seven competing. It produced a very close struggle, Miss M. Brophy winning by a touch from Miss Plunkett, and Miss Hay being inches away third. Time—42 secs.

WATER POLO.

LEINSTER SENIOR CUP.

Dublin University had an easy victory over Clontarf by 5-0 in the first round of the Senior Cup at Blackrock on Monday evening. The winners, who showed no effects of their hard struggle with Pembroke the previous Saturday, scored per O'Connor (2), Purcell, Clinch, and Owens. Clontarf gave a ragged display, and Brennan, in goal, was off colour.

Dublin having scratched, the 'Varsity have now qualified for the final.

To-day—Pembroke v. Sandycove (semi-final Senior Cup), Blackrock, 6.30.

LEINSTER SENIOR WATER POLO CUP.—First Round—Dublin University v. Clontarf, played at Blackrock on Monday. Result: Dublin University, 5 goals (O'Connor 2, Purcell, Clinch, and Owens); Clontarf, nil.

FINANCIAL NEWS

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

MARKETS QUIET GENERALLY. BANK STOCK BETTER. BREWERIES LOWER. TEXTILES AND DUNLOPS EASIER.

Political and holiday influences again operated to curtail dealings on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, and as it was not often easy to bring buyers and sellers to a dealing point, the course of prices was irregular, and occasionally erratic. The quotations in Government Funds reflect somewhat this undecided state of the markets generally. Banks hardened, with Bank of Ireland Stock in good demand. There was a reaction and general weakness in the market for Breweries and Distilleries, in which even Guinness Ord. joined in a resumption of selling from the other side. Steamship securities remain idle, but apparently firm. Marconis closed unaltered. Great Southern and Western issues fell back where dealt in, and this was almost the only business current in the Home Railway market. Trams met with a little attention. Parent Tyres fetched lower prices, and Dunlop Rubber Ord. closed unofficially about 9s. Bolands were bid for again. Textiles were easier. Oils closed firm.

The Funds were fairly busy. Consols rose ⅛ to 47¼, Funding Loan ⅛ to 71⅛, and Irish Land 3 p.c. 1/16 to 52⅞, while do. 2¾ p.c. fell ⅛ to 48¼, and India 3½ p.c. ⅜ to 57⅞. War Loan 5 p.c. repeated 88¾.

Banks closed firm, with a few improvements. Bank of Ireland rose 1 to 202, and Nationals ¼ to 17, while Munster and Leinsters repeated 5¼¼.

Lower prices were quoted for Breweries and Distilleries. Guinness Ord. fell ¼ to 39¼, Castlebellingham and Drogheda Pref. 1/16 to 4 1/16, and Dublin Distillers' Ord. 1s. 6d. to 36s.

In Marconis the Ord. at 37s. show no change.

Home Rails were mostly idle, but Great Southern and Western issues offered. The Ord. fell 1 to 48, and the Guaranteed ½ to 64¼, Midland Great Western 4 p.c. Pref. repeated 40.

Among Tramways Anglo-Argentine 5 p.c. Debs. fell ¼ to 64, but Dublin United Ord. rose ⅛ to 6⅞ for a few shares, and the 3½ p.c. "A" Debs. 1/16 to 53⅞.

Dunlops remain uncertain, awaiting result of the past year's operations. Dunlop Rubbers closed unofficially about 9s. Parent Tyre Ord. fell 3d. to 13s. 3d., and the Deferred 7½d. to 26s. 4½d.

In Bakery shares Bolands rose 1s. to 48s. 6d.

As regards Manufacturing shares, Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Debs. rose ⅛ to 91, while British-American Tobacco fell 3d. to 63s. 6d; Coats 1½d. to 47s 10½d., and Cottons 6d. to 34s. 6d. Spinners remain at 35s.

In Miscellaneous securities Irish Times Pref. remain strong, and closed 1/16 over last price at 60s., 62s. 6d., nominally.

Imperial Tobacco rose 1½d. to 49s. 4½d., and Mexican Eagle Oil ⅛ to 5⅛, but Shells fell 1/16 to 5.

SLACK STOCKS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Stock Exchange members are still bemoaning the slackness of business. Markets for the moment are singularly devoid of interest. Beyond the ordinary every day volume of supply and demand, which, as usual, in this holiday period does not amount to very much, there is no feature of any note calculated to lift things out of the rut of stagnation. Yesterday the gilt-edged market was firm but idle. Movements were very few in number, though it is a matter for satisfaction that where changes in prices did occur they were all in an upward direction. The Conversion Loan improved ¼ to 62¾, and rises of ⅛ advanced Consolidated to 47¼, Funding Loan to 71⅛, and Local Loans to 52⅞.

LONDON STOCKS DULL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The tone of the markets, except in one or two departments, was dull, but not altogether unhopeful. Very few orders came by post, and these were easily cleared, and then prices settled down to quietude. Home Rails were practically lifeless, very few changes being recorded. Chinese Bonds were rather unsettled by the hitch which has occurred regarding the interest on the 8 p.c. sterling Treasury Bonds. The gilt-edged market was steady, and there was a general, if small, advance in prices. Consols were 1/16 better at 47⅛. The 3½ p.c. War Loan rose ⅛ to 87, while the 4 p.c. rose ⅛ at 97¾. The 5 p.c. was unchanged. Funding Loan and Victory Bonds both rose ⅛ to 76⅞ and 78¼, respectively, while the Conversion Loan also rose ⅛ to 62 1/16. Dealings started in the Thames Valley 6 p.c. Debs. on the basis of 1 premium. It is stated that the allotments were very small, and that applicants for £100 of stock were cut out altogether. Southland remains at 1½ premium.

Among Foreign Government Securities, Chinese Bonds were lower. The 5 p.c. 1896 fell a point to 67, and the 4½ p.c. of 1898 also fell a point to 71¼, but were x.d. French Loans were dull and heavy. The Fives fell ½ to 42¼. German Threes fell ¼ to 5. Mexican 5 p.c. also registered a fall of 1 to 58¼. Japanese 4½ p.c. advanced 1¼ to 117¼.

Home Rails were flat, and, though the changes were few, they were to a lower level. It may be that the setback of the past few days has stopped, but there is little sign of a recovery. Brighton "A" fell ¼ to 40¼, Chatham Ord. ⅛ to 6¼, Great Eastern ¼ to 22¼, South Western Def. ¼ to 18¼, and Underground Elec. Income Bonds ¼ to 76 x.d.

Among Foreign Rails, "Canpacs" were ⅛ better at 150¼, while Grand Trunks continued strong. The Ord. was ⅛ up at 5¼, the First Pref. 3 at 48, the Second Pref. 1 at 55, and the Third Pref. ¼ at 15. Argentines were flat for some reason, and B.A.G.S. fell ¼ to 63¼, and Pacifics 1 to 44. Central Uruguay rose 1 to 42, and Entre Rios ¼ to 19.

IRREGULARITY IN INDUSTRIAL SECTIONS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

In the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday the tone varied. In some quarters there was a hardening tendency, but in others, such as Iron and Steel and purely industrial concerns, there was a disposition to put prices easier as a precautionary measure, dealers generally reading each other sellers. Among those securities which evinced a decided upward trend were Brewery Stocks, an appreciable investment demand materialising in this group. Allsopp and City of London Pref. were prominently good. In the Textile section, Coats and Calico Pref. were bright spots, other issues showing a dull tendency.

Allsopp issues strengthened in the Brewery list, the Ord. advancing 1½ to 54¼ and the Pref. gaining a point at 59. Watney Combe Pref. at 41 were a better market, as also City of London 5½ p.c. Pref. at 67¼. Whitbread 3½ p.c. Debs. improved to 59¼, and the tone throughout this group was better than for some time past. In Foodstuffs, Maypoles were dull, closing at 8s., though Liptons at 17s. 1½d. were firm. Tobacco issues were just steady, no change occurring. In Miscellaneous descriptions the few changes included a decline in Dunlops to 8s. 9d. and in Borax Def. to 1 1/16. Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. eased to 14s. 9d., but British Oil and Cake at 26s. 6d. kept firm, after being better. Salt Union gained a few pence at 13s. 3d., and in Land shares Forestals were 6d. better at 25s. Wireless issues marked time, no change appearing. Banks were irregular, with Hong Kong a point better at 96, and Barclays "A" easier at 6¼. Permission having been granted to deal in the vendors' shares of Cook, Son, and Co., the latter are consequently now good delivery with the other Ord. shares. The price consequently became depressed at 14s. 3d., though the Pref. were maintained at 19s.

Textile shares generally showed irregularity, dealings being on a small scale. Courtaulds were still 37s. 3d., Coats were a bright spot at 48s. x.d., and Calico Pref. were advanced to 13s. 6d.; Amalgamated Cottons declined to 12s. 6d. and Spinners eased to 1 1/16, Listers losing 6d. at 16s. 3d. and Joshua Hoyle receding ⅛ to 1¼. Among Stores, Selfridge Pref. hardened to 21s. 6d. and Whiteleys Ord. came into request up to 26s. 6d. Though Iron and Steels were dwindling, dealers retarding prices in anticipation of further profit-taking, Pearson and Knowles outstood with a rise to 15s. on the final dividend of 10 p.c. for the year. Armstrong Ord., however, declined to 18s., despite the controlling interest. Vickers were lowered to 13s., and B.S.A., after the spurt, were back again at 8s. 6d. Palmers Shipbuilding were still under the influence of the negative dividend announcement, the shares closing 6d. down at 10s., and Dorman Long eased to 17s. 9d., Ebbw Vale slipping back to 17s.; Swan Hunters, however, were a good market, rising 1s. to 27s. Brazilian Tractions were again higher among Canadian-Americans, County of London improving in the Electric Lighting group to 8¼. General Electric Debs. continued to receive support, hardening to 98¼. Shipping securities hardly moved, a moderate advance, however, being shown by Elder Dempster Pref. at 15s. 6d. In Gas Stocks, Gas Light and Coke rose 1 to 60.

MINING SHARES EASIER.

EXTREME PAUCITY OF BUSINESS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Movements in the Mining market yesterday were, for the most part, unimportant, and restricted to narrow margins. The tendency was, on the whole, easier, with irregularity apparent here and there, on what, however, can only be described as extreme paucity of business. In the Kaffir section, cautiousness on the part of professionals was apparent from the early hours, and, despite a little support from Paris, the indisposition to engage in fresh commitments continued, the Cape proving lukewarm, and the monthly returns so far to hand making a disappointing showing. Gold was 1d. easier at £5 10s. 9d. Expectations as regards the further returns from the mines do not appear to run very high. So far, a net realisation of £5 10s. per oz. is indicated, as against a July estimate of £5 12s. 6d. gross. After the market had dispersed several more cables came to hand. Van Ryn Deep announce the outbreak of labour troubles. Business in Rhodesians was whittled down to slender dimensions, Chartered, after the activity of the preceding day, appearing subdued on a little professional profit taking, which knocked a few pence off the price. The only other movement of note in this section was a sharp rise in Cam and Motor on reported favourable news from the property. Among Diamonds, De Beers displayed animation during the morning, but on the cessation of Continental support the quotation slipped back to the overnight level. The further rise of £2 per ton in the price of tin to £161 7s. 6d. lent encouragement to the Share market, a few Nigerian issues showing gains in consequence. In West Africans firmness was exhibited under the influence of a smart rise in Ashanti Goldfields on the cable announcing the August returns. Westralians also reflected rather more optimism, and in the Copper section a couple of Australian issues scored small advances. Russians were neglected, and elsewhere no movement of interest occurred. Silver hardened up another ⅛d. to 39⅛d. Closing prices:—

OIL SHARES LOWER.

MARKET LARGELY PROFESSIONAL.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Business in the leading Oil shares yesterday was of a much less active character than of late, and, although a steady tone prevailed at the opening, with prices in some cases a trifle above the overnight level, the slackening of demand led to a gradual decline in quotations, while Paris operators, who have been buying freely of late, turned sellers on a considerable scale. As has been the case for some little time past, attention was directed mainly to the leading descriptions, and the business was largely of a professional character, the latter being influenced to a considerable extent by Continental dealings. In the late "street" dealings a moderate recovery occurred, New York coming in a buyer, but shrinkages were still fairly general at the close. Mexican Eagles moved between 5 1/16 buyers and 5 1/16 offered, finishing in the "street" at 5 1/16, at which a loss of 1/16 was recorded; the Prefs. and New shares weakened in sympathy, losing ⅛ at 4⅞ and 5, respectively. Royal Dutch were a quiet market throughout the day, finishing in the "House" at 39¾, but in the unofficial dealings they were bid for, New York being a buyer, and they finally registered an advance of ⅛ at 40¼. Shells started at 5, fell to 4 15/16, and rallied at the end to 4 15/16, which left them 1/16 down on balance. Burmahs, after touching 5⅜, receded to 5⅛, at which they closed, showing a loss of 1/16. Burmah 8 p.c. Prefs. remained at 21s. 3d., but Anglo-Persian Second Prefs. were slightly easier at 22s. 3d. Indo-Burmas met with buyers, and rose 6d. to 9s. 9d. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

RATES CONTINUE VERY EASY.

Bank Rate (changed July 21, 1921) ...... 5½ p.c.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

There was but little evidence of floating supplies of credit wearing off. Running daily loans went on at 3½ p.c., but fresh money was obtainable at 3 p.c., while balances were offered down at 2 p.c. at the close, though, perhaps, not so freely as on Monday. The continued ease has led to a further weakening of discount rates, but, with money as it is, there are few sellers of any class of paper. October and November Treasuries could be sold at about 4 p.c., while December were called 4 to 4⅛ p.c. The banks were not keen buyers, but they did inquire for a few November bills.

The price of gold fell 1d. yesterday to 110s. 9d. per oz. Bar silver rose ⅛d. for both spot and forward to 39⅛d. and 38⅞d., respectively.

Among foreign exchanges, Paris cheque opened at 48.42, and was rising all day, and on balance there was a movement of nearly half a franc against France. The Belgian rate was adversely affected in sympathy. The Scandinavian centres opened decidedly weak, and, except in the case of Copenhagen, showed depreciation for kronen at the close, but after this weak opening the tendency of rates was consistently downwards. New York fluctuated between 3.71½ and 3.71¼, and had little net change, while the Dutch rate was steady in sympathy. Spanish pesetas gave way.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Judged from the rapid way in which Mexican Eagles have been mounting within the last few days, it might be supposed that bears of the shares were convinced that the time has come when Mexico and America shall be once more united by harmonious conditions of trade and international credit. The cheerfulness is refreshing enough, says the Westminster Gazette, and has certainly afforded a fine opportunity for those who bought their Mexican Eagles in the slump of a fortnight ago to get out at a substantial profit. The bears, moreover, have been caught badly, and their efforts to replace their sales are among the reasons for so sharp a recovery from 4½ to 5⅛ in less than a month. Cautious folk, however, may wonder whether all is yet settled between Mexico and the United States. However greatly this consummation may be desired—and in the interests of peace it cannot come too quickly—fuller knowledge is awaited before placing implicit confidence in the latest talk of recognition.

The intimation that the Union of South Africa's mealie surplus available for export is 4,000,000 bags is an important matter for the gold mines. This, together with meat, constitutes the largest item of expense in feeding the natives. Together the two items absorbed £1,326,000 last year, in contrast with £678,000 in 1914, though no more in bulk was used. Over 20/- per bag was paid for mealies last year, now it seems doubtful whether the mines will have to pay even 10/- per bag. Thus there is an immediate saving here of between £350,000 and £400,000 a year. Meat is probably down 33 per cent. owing to the fall in the cost of feeding stuffs, and bread is lower. Accordingly a saving of between £700,000 and £800,000 on this food stuff is in every way probable. To undertakings like Crown Mines, East Rands, and Randfontein Central such an economy, owing to the scale of operations conducted, would represent the equivalent of a small dividend.

A mild sensation has been caused in the Foreign market of the London Stock Exchange by the fact that the coupon due August 28th on the six hundred thousand pounds of Chinese eight per cent. Ten Year Sterling Bonds issued at the end of 1918 on behalf of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company has not yet been paid, especially in view of the high reputation which China enjoys in the financial world for meeting its engagements. The bonds are a direct obligation of the Chinese Government, and, no doubt, there is an adequate reason for the delay in the payment of the coupon. The market does not anticipate that this delay will be of long duration, for the bonds are still quoted at 91 to 96 ex dividend.

RAILWAY STATISTICS FOR JUNE, 1921.

The railway statistics for the month of June will be available in a few days at H.M. Stationery Office, and show the effects of the coal stoppage on the traffic conveyed during that period. The number of passenger journeys (exclusion season ticket holders) was 8,071,632, or 27.22 per cent. less than in March, but the passenger train miles were reduced by 41.89 per cent. As regards freight traffic the total tonnage conveyed in June, 1921, showed a decline of 21½ million tons, or 74 per cent., compared with June, 1920, and the ton miles worked a decrease of 69 per cent.

MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Tuesday.—The present glorious weather is giving great facility for completion of harvest work and threshing under ideal conditions. Our Corn Exchange continues to be sparsely attended, and business is yet unproductive of interesting price developments to which any importance can be attached. Wheat is spoken of as from 33/- to 36/- per barrel, and red lots more. Black oats 16/- to 18/-, and whites 17/6 to 19/6 and 21/6 per barrel. In Lancashire and Yorkshire markets new wheat has fallen 5/- per quarter this week, average now 56/- to 58/- per quarter. Oats in those districts, too, are depressed and unquotable in face of bad sale. On our market so far new grain is mostly of light and variable quality, and the prices quoted, if maintained, would mean dear investments to the consumer.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—American markets were closed yesterday owing to Labour Day holiday, but sterling exchange was better, and an easier feeling prevailed in WHEAT early, though strong afternoon cables brought about a recovery. In c.i.f. parcels No. 1 Manitoba October-November sold at 67/- to 67/9, No. 2 Manitoba September 69/6, No. 2 hard winter afloat 64/- to 64/3, and October 64/3 to 64/9 per quarter. American mixed and River Plate quoted 3/7 to 3/7½ per cental, actually ready for delivery. FLOUR steady and moderately active at late rates. Beans and peas scarce and more or less nominal. OATS quiet and Chilean easier in value. Oatmeal steady at late rates, but buyers operated somewhat cautiously. Mill offals quiet, and purchases in some cases could be made on easier terms. Graded red wheat futures were offered at less money, and ½d. decline was accepted, but values improved during the late afternoon, the market closing firm and ½d. dearer than last night. Yellow River Plate maize options, after being 1½d. to 2d. lower became steadier, and closed at 1½d. to 1⅛d. decline on the day. MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW, Tuesday.—Although market was scarcely so full as on last gathering, there was still a fair seasonable supply of hay to deal with. Trade was slightly improved for choice 1st and 2nd crop horse hay and good qualities of cow hay. Other descriptions, however, cleared slowly. 1st crop hay, 8/6 to 8/9 and 9/- per cwt.; a small percentage of extra nice shed loads occasionally around 9/6; medium strong hay, 7/- to 8/3; best old meadow, 6/6 to 7/- and 7/6; other classes, 5/- to 6/3; inferior, 4/- to 5/- per cwt. Straw proved a larger supply than usual, or what could be conveniently negotiated. Oaten averaged 3/6 to 4/- and inferior 3/-; wheaten also 3/- to 3/6 to 4/- in main transactions. For both sorts there were occasional whispers of 4/6 for extra nice straw.

LONDON, Tuesday.—Liberal supplies met a generally quiet trade at about late rates. Best meadow hay, £8 to £8 10/-; medium, £6 to £6 10/-; inferior, £5 to £5 10/-, best clover, £8 to £8 15/-; best mixtures, £8 to £8 10/-, while straw ranges from 85/- to 95/- per ton, according to quality.

MANCHESTER, Tuesday.—The situation here is dominated by raw material movements, and, though trading is rendered difficult for the moment, there is a hopeful feeling in many quarters. Cloth offers are coming from both India and China, but rarely prove workable. Increased activity is noticeable for some minor outlets, and home demand more in evidence. Yarns hardening, and the turnover is in small volume.

THE ANCIENT IRISH BENEDICTINE ABBEY AND SCHOOL, FOUNDED AT YPRES IN 1665, AND RECENTLY TRANSFERRED TO IRELAND BY AUTHORITY OF THE HOLY SEE. UNDER THE SPECIAL PATRONAGE OF HIS GRACE THE ARCHBISHOP OF TUAM.

The first Monastic School for girls to flourish in Ireland since the sixteenth century is now being opened at Kylemore Abbey. It is conducted by the Irish Benedictine Nuns, who have preserved all their ancient traditions of giving their pupils a thoroughly sound and complete training, according to the fundamental tenets laid down by Saint Benedict in his Monastic Rule.

In accordance with the long-standing traditions of monastic education, moral development receives primary and careful attention. The family spirit, tempered with an atmosphere of refinement and culture, the distinctive mark of the Benedictine system, pervades the school life of the pupils. The girls are admitted at an early age, and all branches of their education and instruction are undertaken or supervised by the Nuns.

The School curriculum includes the Christian Doctrine, the Irish Language, History and Literature, English Language do., Classical and Modern European Languages, Geography, Modern History, Science and Mathematics. Junior Pupils are taught on modern methods, while the senior girls receive instruction in Home Science and the Fine Arts. There are special facilities for good Musical Training, Voice Culture, and French and German conversation. All pupils follow courses in Dancing and Physical Culture, and must take part in the Games.

The Abbey is ideally adapted for scholastic purposes. It occupies one of the most unique positions in Europe, amidst the savage grandeur of the Connemara Highlands, unrivalled for their scenic beauty of mountain, ocean, lake and river. The pupils enjoy the benefit of organised rambles and excursions.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Catalogues comprising 10,660 bales of wool were brought forward last evening comprising 6,697 bales of privately-owned wool and 3,963 bales on account of British Australian Realisation Association. There was a good attendance, and competition for merinos and the finer grades of cross-breds was exceptionally keen, prices showing some further improvements. The position of coarse cross-breds was not appreciably changed from the rates current at the close of last week.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At the wool sales at Sydney yesterday, 7,545 bales were offered, of which 7,059 were sold. Private sales totalled 348 bales. Competition was exceedingly keen, and prices generally were 10 per cent. higher than at the August sales.

At Melbourne wool sales 3,534 bales were offered, all of which were sold. There was a full attendance, and competition was keen. American buyers took the best wools, Yorkshire, the Continent, and Japan secured the balance at prices about on a par with those realised on Monday.

CATTLE PRICES FALLING.

There was a large supply of cattle at the Athlone September fair yesterday. Prices all round showed a downward tendency, and sellers were very slow to accept the decreased prices. As a result, many animals of the store class were returned unsold. The average prices were:—Fat cattle, 50/- to 65/- per cwt., according to quality; three-year-old bullocks and heifers, £28 to £34; two-year-olds, £17 to £23 10/-; yearlings, £13 to £15; springer cows, £25 to £38; milchers, £15 to £24.

AUTUMN SHEEP SALES.

Messrs. Ganly, Sons, and Co.'s weekly autumn sheep sales were continued yesterday in the Dublin Cattle Market, when about 2,500 sheep of the various breeds of store ewes, wethers, and lambs were offered. There was a fair attendance of buyers, and competition was similar to last week's. The Roscommon and Galway ewes were again a good show, quotations for top pens running from 90/- to 82/-, and secondary pens, 72/- to 66/-. Cheviot and Wicklow Mountain classes were rather a small show, and prices showed no variation on previous results. Black-faced horny ewes, 46/-. Lambs made from 75/- to 50/-; Roscommon and Galway wethers, from £4 5/- to £3 2/6. Messrs. Ganly's next auction will be held on Wednesday, September 14th, when 100 black-faced Scotch wether lambs from the Galtee Mountain flock of the representatives of late Lord Lismore will be offered.

IRISH ARCHITECTURE.

BEAUTY OF "BIRD'S EYE" MARBLE.

Looking around at the many fine specimens of Irish architecture, particularly the banks, that now adorn a "rebuilt" Dublin, one cannot help being impressed by the magnificent marble used in their construction. Indeed, so beautiful are the shades of this marble—black, green, and red—that one can hardly credit that it is possible to obtain them in such great variety in Ireland. But perhaps the most fascinating of these is the famous "Bird's Eye" Marble, obtainable in a quarry near Kilkenny known as the "Black Quarry." This has so many beautiful fossilled forms embedded in black that it instantly captured the interest, not only of architects and builders, but of geologists and artists. These fossilled forms, resembling those of birds' eyes, which possibly gave it its name, lend such beauty to the marble that for dignified buildings and refined architectural work it is difficult to surpass. But no less fascinating in this respect is the famous "Kilkenny Fossil Marble," obtainable in the "Three Castles" Quarry in the same district. Unlike the "Bird's Eye" Marble, it is full of fossil forms so minute and small that when polished it presents a speckled greyish appearance that is very beautiful indeed. These and many other magnificent Irish marbles are dealt with in an interesting little booklet about to be issued by the Irish Marble Co., Ltd., of Kilkenny, to those interested in high-class constructional work. Architects, builders, and banks should make a point of securing this little booklet by writing now for a copy. It is free, but contains a wealth of interest for lovers of refined architecture both in Ireland and elsewhere, and particularly for those contemplating the rebuilding of premises.
